

RAGSDALE'S LETTER HIT BY GRAND JURY; FINANCE SHEET STANDS "NOT ACCEPTABLE"

U. S. To Urge 'Relativity' as Navy Cut Basis

STIMSON TO GIVE KEYNOTE THEORY
IN SPEECH TODAY

American Leader Will Ask That Figures Be Kept Out of All Preliminary Discussion.

KELOGG TREATY
STARTING POINT

Japanese and Italians Understood To Be in Sympathy With Theory of "Relativity."

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER,
United News Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, Jan. 22.—The United nations will propose that the entire work of the London conference be based on the doctrine that naval needs are relative, the United News learned today.
That will be the keynote which Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief American delegate, will sound at the first meeting of the committee of a whole at St. James' palace tomorrow.
Stimson will urge that figures be kept out of early discussions, believing that an agreement on his theory of "relativity" will clear the air and permit the conference to use Kellogg anti-war pact as a starting point.
Stimson proposes to argue as follows: The nations have signed the anti-war treaty, giving reasonable assurance there will be no armed conflict. How, then, can any nation say it needs so many warships and such and-such tonnage? Will not each nation's estimate of naval needs be reduced as the others are lowered?
If Stimson's doctrine of relativity is accepted he believes a big war will have been made toward reduced armaments.

British Minimum.
The American delegates understand, however, that the British will insist on the beginning on a minimum of cruisers. Preliminary conferences have failed to win Britain, to full recognition of the relativity principle.
Formation reached the United Nations right that the doctrine of absolute hold to numbers, but may grant activity as to size of cruisers, dividing their 50 into large and small cruisers on the basis of relative length of other navies.
The Americans do not expect French Andre Tardieu, of France, to act into the discussions tomorrow.
French thesis that this conference should be regarded as wholly preparatory to later disarmament work under League of Nations. They believe, however, that he will emphasize the French line of communication, a problem of Mediterranean control in the large fleet needed under the treaties.
The Italians and Japanese are understood to favor Stimson's relativity thesis.
"We are believers in the Einstein theory of relativity," a spokesman in disarmament, a spokesman for the Italian delegation told United News today.
"We always have said we will accept the lowest figures, provided they not exceeded by any other continent European power. Therefore it not necessary for us to compute the
pendent on the figures of others."

No Figures.
The Italians will present no figures at tomorrow's conference when all needs are considered.
Tomorrow's session will begin at 10
m. The agenda follows:
First—Appointment of a secretary of the whole, consisting of delegates.
Second—Formal appointment of the committee of the whole, consisting of delegates.
Third—A general statement by the ad of each delegation on the naval requirements of his country. Thus,
at the end of the meeting a stenog-raphic copy of the position of each and the extent of the agreements if divergencies will be definable.
At the end of the meeting a stenog-raphic copy of the position of each will be issued to the public.
The delegates spent today in preliminary conferences which will be followed Friday. Official automobiles arrived back and forth across the street End district bearing delegates to one meeting to another.
Secretary Stimson and Mrs. Stimson motored to Stanmore this evening to get a good night's rest before tomorrow's difficult session. At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the American delegates will lay a wreath on a cenotaph of the British unknown sailor.

NORMAN IS GIVEN
3-TO-5-YEAR TERM

Former Banker Found Guilty of Misapplication of Institution's Funds.

T. J. Norman, vice president and secretary of the defunct Colonial Trust Company, Wednesday afternoon was convicted by a jury in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court as the climax of a week's trial of a charge of willful misapplication of the bank's money, credits and securities. The jury fixed the penalty for Norman at from three to five years.
Sentence will be passed today by Judge Moore. The jury found Norman guilty on count two of the in-charge, this count charging the defendant with misapplication of $96,000.
Counsel for Norman said that a motion for a new trial would be filed.
J. S. Siler, president of the defunct bank, recently was convicted and sentenced to serve from one to three years, but now is out on bond pending the result of his effort to secure a new trial.
Norman has been given two mis-trials, both having been declared before the testimony in the case was started.
Trial of Norman involved a mass of documentary evidence. Sixteen different transactions were included in the charge, including the purchase of Paul S. Etheridge and Sam Hewitt represent Norman. The prosecution was conducted by Assistant Solicitors-General John H. Hudson and J. Walter LeCraw.
It was announced at the solicitor-general's office that the state is planning early trials of both Norman and Siler on the remaining indictments, in order to clear the record of the case. Siler's motion for a new trial, filed following his conviction on a charge of misapplication of $300,000, will be heard Saturday by Judge Moore. The Colonial Trust Company failed on September 29, 1929, leaving a loss of more than $300,000.
Representatives of the state banking department uncovered the alleged discrepancies.

Mercury Drop To 20 Degrees Is Due Today

Bright Skies To Accompany Frigid Weather, Forecaster Says.

Icy blasts from the sub-zero regions of the northwest will drive the Atlanta mercury down to 20 degrees or lower this morning according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, and despite the fact that clear skies will be in order, the day's maximum is expected to be below the freezing point.
"We expect a fine, clear day," the bureau chief stated Wednesday afternoon, "and there should be no cause for complaints unless it is the chilliness."
It was pointed out that conditions are almost identical with those which brought a 15-degree minimum to Atlanta the first of the week, but Mr.
von Herrmann hopes that the severe immunity to cold enjoyed by Georgia and Florida will prevent a more drastic drop.
The official thermometer here cut quite a few degrees Wednesday, starting off at 42 degrees in the early hours of morning and dropping steadily until it reached 38 at noon. After this the warming influence of the sun was felt and it jumped back up to 42 shortly after 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. From this time on the trend was steadily downward. Slow moderation in the schedule for Friday, with clear weather due to continue for the time being.
A new cold wave whipped the western half of Dixie Tuesday chilling Arkansas with near-zero temperatures and pulling the mercury below the freezing point in Tennessee, Mississippi and northern Louisiana.
Snow accompanied the biting winds in Arkansas, laying a one to three-inch fall over most of the state. Snow also was falling in Nashville, Tenn., and Louisiana and Mississippi experienced rain and sleet.
Fayetteville and Bentonville, in the extreme northwest part of Arkansas, felt two degrees above early Tuesday morning, a drop of six degrees in many hours.
Just out of the grip of a week-end storm that took 12 lives the affected area made extensive preparations to meet winter's latest onslaught. In Shreveport, La., emergency squads were being held in readiness in the event of a repetition of the water pipe damage of the past few days, estimated at $100,000 by city authorities.
The picking of between 15,000 and 25,000 bales of cotton has been delayed in Mississippi by the weather.

Motorboat, With No Liquor, Pursued and Attacked 150 Miles From U. S.
Waters.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 22.—(AP)
The Vancouver deep sea motorboat Taiheyo was pursued and rammed by the United States coast guard vessel Bonham on January 17, near the Guadalupe islands, off the coast of Mexico, her owners were informed today.
The Taiheyo is now beached on one of the Guadalupe islands, her master, Captain J. Butler, reported.
Protest has been sent to Ottawa concerning the incident.
Captain Butler reported his vessel was in ballast bound for home when she was pursued and run down by the Bonham.
He states she had no liquor aboard,
nor had she carried any on the trip.
Advised received here said the Tai-heyo Maru was 150 miles south of the United States-Mexican line at a point near the Guadalupe islands when the incident occurred. Another small craft, it was reported, saved the rammed boat from sinking by putting lines on her and towing her to a beach.
The Taiheyo Maru is a 65-foot motor vessel built in Vancouver last summer and sent south to engage in Mexican coastwise operation. She was on her way back here after a four months' absence when rammed.

DRIVER IS BLAMED FOR BUS TRAGEDY

Nine School Children Killed When Train Hits Bus at Grade Crossing.

BEREA, Ohio, Jan. 22.—(AP)— Coroner J. J. Deane, of Cuyahoga county, said that he would not give a formal verdict on the accident in which nine children were killed in a grade crossing tragedy today until he had questioned the engineer and the driver of the train tomorrow. The coroner, however, was emphatic tonight in declaring that upon the basis of evidence already submitted he believes that "wanton carelessness" on the part of John Taylor, the driver, caused the tragedy.
"I think it is an unquestioned case of carelessness and negligence," Pearse said. "There is an unobstructed view of the railroad at that point for perhaps three miles. I feel certain that the driver saw the slow train pass on the track farthest from him and failed completely to see the speeding main train which was on the next track nearer to him."

BEREA, Ohio, Jan. 22.—(United News.)—A school bus carrying to school 30 children, the driver, aged 14, rolled onto Sheldon crossing today just as train 19 of the New York Central came roaring through the rain and sleet, bound for Chicago from Buffalo. The engine caught the bus squarely, carrying wreckage far down the track and killing nine of the 10 children and the driver of the bus.
It occurred on the anniversary of the while such an accident at Bellevue, Ohio, when 17 children were killed, and it brought the toll of Ohio's major grade crossing accidents since 1922 to 112.

The bus had gathered up the children of Brook Park village after breakfast this morning and had left half a score of them at the high school. With the younger children, it started on its way to the elementary school. It was a nasty morning and the cold froze the moisture on the windshield and windows of the bus.
Apparently the driver neither saw nor heard the oncoming train, for the bus drove boldly onto the New York Central track at Sheldon. The crossing is unguarded except for a wooden sign proclaiming the presence of a railroad and carrying the familiar injunction to "Stop, look, listen."

Peter Orak, a trackman, working down the tracks below the crossing, heard the screech of the train as brakes were applied and then a sickening crash. He looked up to see No. 19 bearing down, wreckage on its locomotive, sparks flying from nearly locked wheels grinding on the rails, and debris still in the air or rolling along the right-of-way. He and the train crew summoned help but when ambulances arrived all but three of the 10 children, and the driver of the bus, were dead. Two others died on the way to a hospital.

The dead were:
William Pastorek, aged 10.
Jack Walker, aged 12.
Juanita Walker, aged 9.
Rita Zielenksi, aged 8.
Vincent Zielenksi, aged 6.
Dorothy Zielenksi, aged 7.
William Davidson, aged 14, the eldest of the children on the bus.
Evelyn Kaltenbach, aged 7.
John Taylor, aged 34, driver of the bus.

G. O. P. CHAIRMAN IN A MEXICAN SUIT CHARGING FRAUD

Huston Linked in Action Laying Theft to Officials of Locomotive Engineers' Brotherhood.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)— Charges that funds of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had been stolen by some of its officials were contained in a $900,000 suit filed today in federal court by E. H. Price Co., Sarasota, Fla., real estate operator. The suit involved the brotherhood 50,000-acre Sarasota county, Fla., land development known as Venice City.
The complaint also charged that Clausius H. Huston, chairman of the republican national committee, had been guilty, together with some of officials of the brotherhood, of unethical practices in connection with the brotherhood's land development.
The defendants named in the suit are the brotherhood, Huston and George T. Webb, trustee of the brotherhood. In the complaint Webb is charged on "information and belief" with having misappropriated "upwards of $574,000" of the brotherhood's funds to his own uses.
The suit charged breach of contract and fraud. The complaint said that in 1925 the brotherhood contracted with the Price company to employ them as agents in the purchase and assemblage of 50,000 acres in Sarasota county and to pay 5 per cent commission. More than $18,000,000 was spent on the purchase and assembly of the land, but the Price company never received its commission.
In 1927, the complainant continued, Huston became connected with the development and contracted to pay the commission. Because of this, the complaint says, the Price claim was not pressed and other creditors were prejudiced by the delay.

The allegation of fraud asserted that the Price company was informed that the brotherhood had "upwards of $100,000" of resources, but the defendant Clausius H. Huston had strong political connections and acquaintances; that he had been assistant secretary of the House of Representatives and had been a member of the Transcontinental Oil Company, and had associated with some of the biggest financiers and financial institutions in America.

The complaint charged that Huston and other defendants knew that they were not entitled to the commission and yet they had received it. The complaint charged that Huston and other defendants had received the commission "by means of a scheme to defraud the Price company and to defraud the brotherhood and its members."

A signed statement issued by Huston shortly after the suit was filed said that he had become interested in the development as a public service in an untangling its twisted finances.

NOT INVOLVED, SAYS HUSTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)— Clausius H. Huston, chairman of the republican national committee, said in a statement tonight that "there is absolutely no ground for bringing my name into the suit filed by E. H.
Price Company against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and others."

WRONG PRISONER Man Admits Serving Another's Sentence for $3 a Day

CINCINNATI, Jan. 22.—(AP)— Frank Smith, 33, escaped convict from the Tennessee state prison at Nashville, was discovered today as having posed as another man and voluntarily serving a 10-year sentence here for Clifford Auburn, 20, who had been convicted of possessing liquor.
The officers, knowing another man must be serving Auburn's sentence, visited the workhouse. Smith at first maintained he was Auburn but finally confessed his real identity.
Auburn was re-arrested today and together with Smith is scheduled to be arraigned tomorrow for contempt of court.
Smith told police he was serving a five-year term in Tennessee for highway robbery, was made a trustee in October, 1928, and walked away, still having 17 months to serve.
The impostor said: "I was ill and broke. I knew Auburn, who allowed me to stay at his home. When I saw I needed medical attention I requested I serve out Auburn's fine for possessing liquor. Auburn was willing and offered to give me $3 a day for the 90 days that I would have to serve. I heard of the clinic operated at the workhouse and knew they would restore me to health. I went to court, posed as Auburn and was ordered to the workhouse."

MITCHELL HALTS
PRISON ESPIONAGE

System Which Brought Snook Dismissal Banned
by Official.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Testimony before the house appropriations committee during hearings on the department of justice annual supply bill, made public today, revealed that Attorney-General Mitchell has issued orders against the planting of federal undercover men in federal prisons such as the several indictments which led to the forced resignation some months ago of former Warden John W. Snook, of the Atlanta penitentiary.

At the same time the hearings, just completed and conducted in executive session, clearly established that former Assistant Attorney-General Mabel Walker Willebrandt, in charge of prisons, directed the Atlanta "planting operations," which were exposed by The Constitution.

Copies of the hearings, made public incidentally with the report of the department appropriation bill today, contained testimony of J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the justice bureau of investigation, in which he brought out the fact that Mrs. Willebrandt ordered him to send three college men to the Atlanta penitentiary on undercover assignments.

Questioned on the orders by Representative George Holden Tinkham, a member of the appropriations committee,
Mr. Hoover had the following to say:
"Our bureau did that work in the penitentiary upon the specific orders of the assistant attorney-general."
He said that Mrs. Willebrandt
"It was very distasteful work. The three agents who went into the three prisons were all college men. Before orderly about the prison was instituted, the reports were made of what they saw, heard and knew of the institutions. This was done at the instance of the assistant attorney-general, who was in charge of the prisons at that time."

"They did the prisoners' work. The average length of time that each of these men was in an institution was about six weeks. Upon coming out they submitted detailed reports of what they saw, heard and knew of the institutions. This was done at
the instance of the assistant attorney-general, who was in charge of the prisons at that time."

"I will say that the practice is not indulged in at the present time," said Mr. Hoover.

"And you do not intend to indulge in it again," said Mr. Tinkham.

"No, sir," said Mr. Hoover. "In fact I received orders from the present attorney-general that that was not to be done."

Mr. Tinkham also asked Mr. Hoover about the practice of wire tapping to get information on which to indict persons.

"We have a very definite rule in wire tapping which will be dismissed from the service."

Mr. Hoover said in answer to questions, "While it may not be illegal, I think it is unethical and it is not permitted under the regulations of the attorney-general."

"I am very glad that you take that position," said Mr. Tinkham.

Federal Government Joins Move for Park

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—
The federal government joined today with the states of North Carolina and Tennessee in expediting the move to bring into the national park system the vast masses of mountains and wilderness that form the "roof-top" of eastern America.
The two states officially notified
Secretary Wilbur that they have acquired the 150,000 acres required by law for establishment of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park.
The border line of the two states and within 500 miles of the homes of half the people in the United States, trees and mountain peaks that were old when Columbus was a babe in arms will become a governmental refuge for thousands of heat-harassed and city-jaded folk.

German Passenger Steamer Hits Rock

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 23, (Thursday).—(AP)—The German liner Monte Cervantes, carrying tourists from Buenos Aires has collided with a rock in the Straits of Magellan, at the extreme tip of the South American mainland. No details were obtainable.

Education Board Names Committee and Council Is Expected To Do Likewise; $100,000 Needed.

Met with the impossibility of making up a finance sheet on which to operate and maintain the public school system of the borough of Atlanta for 1930, members of the board of education, in special session Wednesday, voted unanimously to seek a solution of the problem through negotiations of special conference committees from the board and city council.
At least $100,000 additional must be obtained to make a budget.

Declaring that the administration department had been instructed by Dr.
McIntosh M. Burns, president, to prepare a budget based on the $3-185,000 allocated to board for schools and that the task had been impossible, Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, put the problem up to the board after stating that $38,000 was all administration officials could possibly slash from the $3,429,000 asked in the first budget.

W. W. Gaines, veteran member of the board from the third ward, will head the conference committee from the board and under a resolution which was offered by J. Ira Harrelson, of the fourth ward, city council at its next meeting will be asked to appoint a similar committee in an effort to work out the financial crisis which is facing the Atlanta school system.

Committee Members.
Other members of the board's conference committee are Mrs. E. A. Wilson, commissioners from the 12th ward; Mr. Harrelson; Ed A. Gilliam, alderman from the 12th and chairman of the school committee of the council of the borough of Atlanta, and Dr.
Burns, as president of the board.

Never before in the history of Atlanta has the situation reached such serious proportions, according to officials of the administration department and board members.
Salaries of employees for the year are listed at $3,080,000, while the net amount which council appropriated to schools in the January finance sheet is $2,875,000, according to Mr.
Sutton.

Highest additional funds—at least $100,000—are needed, the schools superintendent said, to meet the needs of the year.

Minimum Budget.
The minimum budget on which the schools can be operated without including a penny for supplies, heating, electric current, repairs or replacements is $3,138,927, the superintendent declared.

A charter amendment passed at the last session of the Georgia assembly forces the board to set up salary accounts of all employees at the beginning of the year, but under a ruling

Smith College Girl Kidnaped But Soon Freed

Student's Pleading Gains
Quick Release From Her Abductors.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 22.
(AP)—A girl, 19, was kidnapped from the campus, a Smith college girl whose name was being carefully shielded today, was kidnapped last night and held captive nearly two hours by two men and a woman.

William Allen Neilson, president of the college, announced the kidnapping today, "to allay rumors which I understand are in circulation."

The girl was stopped on a street near the campus and asked the direction to the president's house. As she was replying she was pulled into an automobile, blindfolded, and driven to a house which she believed a considerable distance from the town. There she was held prisoner in a room while her captors ate in another part of the house.

Later, she argued at length with them, warning them she said, that they could not kidnap a college girl without immediate alarm being sounded. In this way, she said, she dissuaded them from holding her and one of the men drove her back to the vicinity of the college. She immediately reported the matter to college authorities.

Although two Smith students have disappeared in the last five years, the body of one of whom was recovered from the Connecticut river, and the other never heard from, the Northampton police said they had received no report of the kidnapping and had, therefore, taken no action. The state police were said to be conducting an investigation of their own.

MELLON SEEKS RELIEF AS HEAD OF DRY FORCES

Secretary of Treasury Refuses To State His Opinion of Eighteenth Amendment.

BY HERBERT LITTLE.
United News Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(United News.)—The 75-year-old banker who has been enforcing prohibition for the last nine years today refused to tell what he thought of it, and asked to be relieved of the task.

Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of treasury, appeared before a house executive expenditures sub-committee and approved the Hoover-Wickersham proposal to turn prohibition enforcement over to the attorney-general.
"We have done everything possible to enforce the law," Mellon said, "but it is a question of making the enforcement more workable."

Asserting that the treasury's business was to manage the nation's finances, Mellon said he "knew of no reason why the treasury should be charged with enforcing an unrelated penal statute."

Representative Igoe, republican, Illinois, and Representative Schaffer, republican, Wisconsin, went, cross-examined the secretary at length, but were unable to find out whether he thought prohibition had had "a fair test."

"It is a very controversial subject," Mellon said, "and I don't see any occasion now to express my personal opinions. It is not important what my opinion is."

"Do you think there will be a higher degree of efficiency under the justice department?" Igoe asked.
"Yes, because there they would have all the evidence gathered by members of the bureau and when it came to prosecution of cases they would be able to prepare their cases."

Schaffer tried to get Mellon to Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran, who also appeared to endorse the proposal, to discuss industrial alcohol distillation in recent months through reference to W. T. Raleigh, Freeport, Ill., perfume manufacturer. Raleigh has been prominent in advocating low levels of industrial alcohol through a bureau which includes several University of Wisconsin professors.

Doran was reported today to be preparing a bill to place the government service when and if the transfer is made by congress. Officials would not discuss the report, although it was said Doran has received several offers from industrial alcohol manufacturers Doran originally was a chemist in the prohibition unit.

Doran was closely questioned on his recent charges that the corn sugar manufacture, not industrial alcohol distillation, was the main trouble with prohibition enforcement now. He disclosed that production of grain sugar, which is easily convertible into grain alcohol increased from 100,000, 000 pounds in 1921 to nearly a billion pounds in 1928. Several million pounds were seized by his agents in stills in 1928, Doran said.

He also defended his recent statement that the killing of two prohibition agents in Florida was due in part to "wild charges made against our agents."

Mellon said the original Volstead act failed to place prohibition enforcement under the internal revenue bureau was "illogical."

Mellon said he did not believe the issuance of industrial alcohol permits belonged either in the treasury or in the justice department, but it should be left in the treasury until a definite place is found. He approved the bill by Chairman Wickersham of the committee, which in addition to the transfer, would give the justice department a final say-so in regard to the treasury's issuance of alcohol permits.

The ultra wets kept up their fire from the floor of the house, which was passing prison reform bills. Representatives Dyer, Missouri, Schaffer and Black, of New York, and LaGuardia,
New York, all wets, made speeches claiming that repeal of the prohibition law would relieve the prison congestion.

Black introduced a resolution to call on Secretary Mellon to tell congress why four prohibition agents in New York, who have been charged with "graft," were appointed.

Mrs. Felton Shows Little Improvement

Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, 94, the only woman ever to occupy a seat in the United States senate, continued today to show but little improvement Wednesday at Davis-Fischer hospital, where she is confined with an attack of bronchial pneumonia.
Tuesday night the beloved woman, successor to Thomas Watson in the senate, was conscious only at times. She was carried to the hospital last week shortly after she came here on a visit from her home in Cartersville.

Grand Jury Insists All Park Payments Be Omitted From Finance Sheet
Before Ragsdale Signs.

PLEDGE OF MAYOR NOT SUFFICIENT

Jury Points Out Promise
Not to Make Payments
Would Not Bind Pro
Tem. Official.

Steadfastly refusing to withdraw its apparently unalterable opposition to approval of the pending municipal finance sheet which includes provisions for park site payments, now under investigation in connection with the city hall graft inquiry, the Fulton county grand jury Wednesday told Mayor I. N. Ragsdale that three reasons he outlined as supporting his announced desire to approve the budget were not "agreeable or acceptable" to that body.

In a letter to the mayor, the grand jury reiterated its request that the city's chief executive veto or withhold his approval of the budget until the investigation has been completed despite the fact that Mayor Ragsdale gave his personal promise that while he was in the executive chair no payments on the park sites principal and interest would be ordered paid. Provisions for such payments are in the finance sheet adopted by the city council and now before Mayor Ragsdale for his approval. The grand jury charges that it was "railroaded" through council.

The grand jury asked Mayor Ragsdale to veto or withhold approval of the finance sheet because the provisions for payments on park sites and the contracts for their purchase have been held illegal by City Attorney James L. Mayson and because the transactions are being scrutinized in the present inquiry.

The Mayor Ragsdale, in his reply to the grand jury, made public by the investigating body's foreman, W. Raw-<

Augusta Railway Yard Sets Record

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 22.—(AP)—At a session of the Savannah division of Central of Georgia railway employees today with representatives from all sections of the division present, the Augusta yard reported it had gone 1,041 days, or nearly three years, without a personal injury of any character, even during the hazardous conditions incident to flood waters last year. Methods of efficient operation were discussed. This was one of the groups of meetings held at different points along the system instead of the usual large gathering generally held annually in Macon. Assistant General Manager G. L. Candler made an address on accidents. Other topics discussed were prevention of loss of goods in transit and solicitation of freight and passenger traffic.

DOCTORS SHOW QUICK WAY TO END COLDS

Many Here Helped by Pleasant Hospital Method Doctors Advise For Home Use

More and more Atlanta people, like Edward B. Russell, are finding how quickly colds may now be ended by a pleasant hospital method which doctors advise for home use.

The sudden change in weather recently caused Mr. Russell to catch a severe cold. He neglected to do anything about it until congestion started spreading so fast that he became alarmed.

Acting on the advice of his doctor, Mr. Russell then started taking double doses of Ayer's Pectoral—a hospital certified compound of wild cherry, terpin hydrate, etc., which physicians have named as the best of different widely known methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds.

Relief began quickly, the doctor reports. Within a few hours after the first dose of Ayer's Pectoral, congestion had cleared up rapidly. That night he slept comfortably and in just a day or so examination showed that all trace of the cold was gone.

Note: See other cases reported daily in this paper—all certified by the attending physician.

Ayer's Pectoral was hospital certified as the best of different widely used methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds because it gave the quickest, surest relief—with absolute safety. It is now featured by Jacobs' Pharmacy and all leading druggists.

Paris' Great Fashion War AMERICAN WOMEN FORCE DICTATORS TO RETREAT Concluded by Compromise

By JOHN GUNTER.
(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

PARIS, France, Jan. 22.—The great fashion war has ended in a compromise. The French dress dictators have been forced by public opinion and the women of America to an ignominious if elegant retreat.

Evening dresses will remain long, but afternoon dresses will be medium, while sports and informal clothes will be triumphantly short—this is the authentic forecast of the spring openings in which tomorrow the fashionable courtiers of Paris will present their great semi-annual showings.

Thus the first round in the giddy skirt squabble ends with defeat for the French. Paris wanted everything about as long as the Eiffel tower is high. American women's clubs and American style experts, and especially American importers with huge stocks of short-skirted models, protested—last won.

Paris is excited as the openings open. Hundreds of buyers are here tip-toeing in line for tomorrow's rush. Great houses like Lanvin, Paton, Louise, Boulangier, Vionnet and Jenny Schiaparelli do not open until next week, but enough of the smaller fry disgorge themselves this week-end to indicate the trends and keep the women agog.

Evening dresses, everyone agrees, will definitely be of the ground-dusting variety. What is more, the length of skirts will not be built on by the aid of frills and so forth, as in the last openings, but the whole skirt will be uncompromisingly low, with full even hem touching the ground.

But in all other categories the dictators are forced to compromise. Afternoon frocks will have skirts at least 14 inches from the ground and sports dresses will come to about 4 inches below the knee.

"This notion that we insisted on long skirts for everyone was based on misapprehension," one fashionable Paris seissors artist said today. "We never intended full length skirts for daytime wear. We know that the American women will not submit to this. The pre-war length skirts are

FIRE PROTECTION PLAN GIVEN TO COMMITTEE

Body Will Consider Problem and Report to County Commissioner.

Plans for fire protection in Fulton county outside of the incorporated limits of the City of Atlanta will be considered by a committee before the county board takes action in the matter. The committee was organized at a special meeting of the commission. The committee is composed of Walter C. Hendrix, chairman; Edward H. Luman and Walter B. Stewart. The proposal of the city to furnish fire protection to the county in exchange for the county's building a fire station and maintaining a force of firemen in the Peachtree road section was referred to the committee for its consideration.

At the board of commissioners meeting, it was pointed out that a constitutional amendment passed by the legislature will give the county the right to create tax districts for fire protection, if the amendment is passed by the people at the next election. The city board of firemen has threatened to withdraw fire protection from the county unless some arrangements are made to help carry on the service.

On the motion of Commissioner Paul S. Etheridge, the board voted to buy gasoline in Atlanta in the future instead of buying it out of the state, since the supreme court has ruled that the state tax on the gasoline tax. The board instructed the purchasing agent of the county to alternate the gasoline purchases between the county and the state.

Following a hearing on the matter of the number of county bailiffs needed, the commission decided not to cut the bailiff staff during 1930. At present the county employs approximately 40 bailiffs. Sheriff James I. Lowry told the commission that he could not give the same efficient service if the number of bailiffs was cut, and pointed out some of the facts about the hard work put in by the bailiffs in serving papers and locating witnesses.

Pilfered Loot Found; Thieves Still Missing

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Jan. 22.—Thomasville's police chief is hot on the trail of pilfering thieves who have recently been pestering merchants of this and other towns in the immediate vicinity. Half of the problem of capture has been solved by Chief Andy Milton, but the other half is still a mystery. The half that has been solved in the finding of the cache of the robbers in a clump of bushes on the north side of Thomasville. Illegal booty, consisting of lumber jackets, overalls, shirts, shoes and other intimate wearing apparel, were found and a reward identification by store proprietors.

Now all the chief has to do is find the thieves and the robbery problem will be solved.

Lanier Is Absolved In Auto Crash Death

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 22.—(AP)—John D. Lanier today stood absolved by a jury in superior court here of involuntary manslaughter charged to him as result of an automobile accident last summer in which William Burkhalter was killed.

Lanier was driving an automobile which collided with the car driven by Burkhalter. Burkhalter's seven companions were injured, but none seriously.

Before the adjournment of the court until April, John Haynes, of Atlanta, pleaded guilty to passing worthless checks and was sentenced to pay the costs of the checks and serve a 12-month sentence on probation, or to serve three months on the chain gang.

SPENDING BY TARIFF LEAGUE DEFENDED

Walsh Impressed With Barbour's "Remarkable Failure of Memory."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Expenditure of $43,313 by the American Tariff League in the 1928 presidential campaign in advocating a protective tariff was defended as for "educational rather than political purposes" before the senate lobby committee today by W. W. Barbour, treasurer and former president of the league.

The senate investigators have challenged Barbour's failure to report this expenditure to congress as a violation of the corrupt practices act.

Probing into the activities of the league, the senate committee heard some new allegations for the western republican independent group, which has bolted the republican tariff bill before the senate. The terms "conspirators" and "renegades" were used in an editorial of the Tariff Review, published by the league, in referring to the western independent group, Barbour said he knew nothing concerning the editorial.

The senators named in the editorial were Blaine and La Follette, Wisconsin; Borah, Idaho; Brookhart, Iowa; Cutting, New Mexico; Frazier and Nye, North Dakota; Norbeck and McNamara, South Dakota; Howell and Norris, Nebraska; Phipps, Oklahoma, and Schall, Minnesota.

Senator Blaine, of the lobby committee, remarked upon the reading of the editorial that "other endorsing terms" had been applied to this group, including the designations of "Sons of the Wild Jackasses" by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, observed after some questioning of Barbour that the witness had "a remarkable failure of memory."

Barbour testified that the average budget of the association was about $75,000 a year and disclaimed knowledge of a letter purporting to have been written by him November, 1928, said "the present income" was almost $100,000 a year and that it was estimated "we ought to have an income of close to $300,000 a year for the next three to five years."

The witness said the letter, which was addressed to R. H. Ashton, chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives, might have been written by Arthur L. Faubel, league secretary, who will be questioned tomorrow.

Judge C. R. Brown, 59, Passes at Cornelia

CORNELIA, Ga., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Judge C. R. Brown, 59, ordinary of Habersham county and prominently connected with banking and civic life of Cornelia, died at his home here last night of pneumonia.

Judge Brown was a director in the Bank of Cornelia, a member of the school board, Kiwanis Club, steward in the Methodist church and a former councilman and mayor of Cornelia. He was also a member of the Masonic fraternity.

He is survived by his wife and six children, Miss Vera Brown, of Orlando, Fla.; Mrs. Thelma Martin, of Cornelia; Hoyt Brown, of Atlanta, and Homer Brown, Verner Brown and Marvin Brown, of Cornelia.

Funeral services for Judge Brown will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Level Grove cemetery.

Artists' Exhibition Opens at Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 21.—(AP)—An exhibition of the Association of Georgia Artists which is to be held here for two weeks will open tomorrow with a private view in the afternoon at Telfair academy.

The occasion will be a reception for Mrs. Maxfield Parrish and Alfred Hutty, two visiting artists, who have acted as judges for the exhibition. The hanging of the pictures was planned by Mrs. Parrish and Mr. Hutty. This is the first exhibition of the association since its organization a few weeks ago. Mrs. Mills B. Lane, of Savannah, is president.

Artist exhibitors include those from Athens, Atlanta, Macon, Brunswick, Columbus, LaGrange, Marietta, Savannah and St. Simons Island.

HALF SICK PEOPLE NEED VITAMINS DAILY

Surest Way To Get Them

Take your Vitamins straight—that's the advice of scientists in these modern times. People who depend on the food they eat for their daily Vitamin requirements are taking a big gamble—they are never sure.

The chemist in McCoy's modern laboratory takes the Vitamins out of pure Norwegian Vitamin tested cod liver oil and puts them in sugar coated tablets.

By taking your Vitamins straight you avoid the horrid tasting, greasy oil—which without the Vitamins has no real value.

And by taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets you are absolutely sure of getting your daily supply of needed Vitamins.

You may not be exactly ill—but you know you aren't up to par. Perhaps you are losing weight or your power of endurance isn't what it ought to be.

It may be that you lack your own time energy and vigor—you are nervous and sleepless and hate to get up in the morning—and are tired out long before your work is done. Try them for a few weeks—the chances are you'll feel better, sleep better, work harder, relish your meal and enjoy your recreation. In two McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets, you get the equivalent of one teaspoonful of pure Norwegian Vitamin tested cod liver oil—you can take a many tablets each day as your condition requires—directions with each box.

And remember this—for every ailment, illness, and rundown condition for which cod liver oil is prescribed, McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equally as good—we would not be allowed to publish this statement if it were not true. Take your Vitamins straight—a druggist, 60 tablets 60 cents. (c) 1929 McCoy, Inc.

WOUNDED CONVICT GAINING STRENGTH

Adron Bias and Two Companions Soon To Be Back in West Virginia Prison.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Adron Bias, 24, one of three bandits who escaped from the Moundsville (W. Va.) penitentiary on December 18, all being captured here Monday, was rapidly gaining strength at a local hospital tonight following the amputation of his arm, which had been shattered by police bullets.

"I have told at least 50 people about Sargon," Mrs. Welch says.

Mrs. Welch Wants Her Remarkable Experience Known to "Four Corners of Earth," She Says.

"Just think of being in wretched health for fifteen long years and spending three of these in almost constant dread of nervous prostration. That's exactly what happened to me, and those who read my statement will understand why I want my endorsement of this wonderful new Sargon heard to the 'four corners' of the earth."

"I'd have the most terrible blinding headaches imaginable! My nerves were in such a frightful condition, everything around me went wrong, and for a good night's sleep—that was entirely out of the question! In my misery I'd toss from one side of the bed to the other, night after night, and in the morning I'd be so weak I'd almost drop in my tracks! Many a time I thought I'd have to give up my work, but I continued just on my courage. My appetite left me and often when I did eat I'd suffer misery with indigestion—I'd have heartburn that seemed like coals of fire in my throat, and gas would crowd my heart and cause it to beat so hard and fast I was frightened almost out of my senses! My liver was so badly disordered I was always bothered with constipation and I was told I had colon trouble. If I ever missed taking a cathartic any night, I'd be in for a terrible siege of biliousness that would bring on attacks of vomiting and seem to rile up my whole being! I spent a lot of money on different medicines and treatments but it was all just like nothing as far as any lasting benefit was concerned, until I found this wonderful Sargon."

"I started the Sargon treatment only in December and I actually feel like a different person now! I've all ready gained back five pounds of the weight I'd lost. I have such world's of strength and energy my work is no task at all and I can go through with it in a happy frame of mind! My nerves are wonderfully relieved and I sleep just fine and wake up rested and hungry, and I eat anything in the world I like without the slightest indigestion!"

"I took the Sargon Pills along with the liquid, and they put my liver in fine condition, so I'm no longer bothered with constipation or that colon disturbance, and I never know what it is to have a headache any more!"

"I've told about fifty people about Sargon and I've come all the way from Riverdale, where my husband and I own and operate a dairy and farm, to tell you how grateful I am for what this wonderful medicine has done for me!"

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. M. N. Welch, of Riverdale, Ga., to the Sargon representative at Jacobs' Main Store, 14 Marietta street.

Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta. —(adv.)

stole two sawed-off shotguns, but they wanted more. They entered a store and asked a clerk to show them some guns. They picked out one each; then asked the clerk, in unison, which also was brought out.

They said they slipped the cartridges into the guns, pushed them into the face of the store clerk, and backed out, saying, "we'll be seeing you."

Adron, on his hospital bed, revealed the attitude of the three men today when he related how Ben C. Davis, near whose store they were captured, narrowly escaped death at the hands of his companions.

Adron said he was standing across the road from the store on Sunday night when Basil Childers purchased the food that led to the capture of the gang. With his brother, Dana, he said, he watched Childers leave the store while the grocer left for his home near by.

"We knew what he was going to do," Adron said. "He was going to call the cops. My brother drew his gun and was going to shoot him—and he would have done it, too, but I stopped him. I told him we'd be in a worse fix than ever."

When Childers rejoined the pair, both he and Dana Bias wanted "to put the store clerk in the way," he said, but Adron persuaded them differently and they went to the deserted house from which they were chased the next day.

Track dogs went over the ground that Adron said they had occupied while watching the store and on to the creek, where the dogs lost the trail.

"That was the only thing that we planned to do and didn't carry through," Childers said in confirming the story.

Childers was taken from his cell to the hospital this morning to have slight flesh wounds dressed. While at the hospital he saw Adron.

Oglethorpe Press Preparing Anthology

The Oglethorpe University Press has in course of preparation an anthology, "The Oglethorpe Book of Georgia Verse," to contain 500 pages and approximately the 20 best poems of 20 famous Georgia poets. In addition it will include carefully selected poems from 50 other Georgia writers.

The book is being edited by Dr. Thorwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, assisted by Dr. James Routh, head of the Oglethorpe English department; Dr. Mary Brent Whiteside, Atlanta poet and essayist; and Dr. Lewis Chase, of Duke University.

A section of the anthology will be devoted to the poems of Thomas Holley Chivers (1809-1858), Decatur poet and rival of Edgar Allan Poe. Dr. Chase, who is an authority on Chivers, has written an introductory essay to his work appearing in the book.

"The Oglethorpe Book of Georgia Verse" will be ready for distribution in the late summer or early fall of 1936.

Trolleys Re-Routed Over Mitchell Bridge

The rerouting of four street car lines, affecting street car traffic over the new Mitchell street viaduct, was announced by the Georgia Power Company Wednesday. The trolleys now will proceed straight across Spring street on Mitchell, eliminating the Nelson street bridge detour.

The lines affected are Walker-West View, Irwin street, Boulevard-West Hunter, West Fair street and Magnolia street. All street car turns have been eliminated at Nelson and Spring and all cars now stop directly in front of the Terminal station. The Irwin and Magnolia street lines have been shortened.

The former route required the operation of cars on Spring street from Mitchell to Nelson. Georgia Power officials believe that in addition to shortening the routes and establishing a new stop at the Terminal station flow of traffic at one of the city's busiest intersections will be materially speeded.

Jameson Re-elected Yaarab Band Chief

Noble William A. Fuller, Yaarab temple's newly elected potentate, started his activities in that position by presiding at the annual meeting of Yaarab Temple's Million Dollar band, held Wednesday night in the practice room in the mosque.

Reports disclosed that under the management of Noble Frank B. Jamison, who has been president and treasurer for the past three years, the organization is in splendid condition with the largest active membership in its history.

Noble Jamison was re-elected president and treasurer; Noble C. Edwards Buchanan was re-elected secretary and director of the band. The executive committee were re-elected, these consisting of Nobles Frank B. Jamison, C. Edwards Buchanan, Wesley Hirsburg and assistant Rabban DeWald A. Cohen.

MISSISSIPPI SOLONS MAY BAN TAX OFFICE

Assembly Hears Attack on Federal Tariff System.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A long rumored plan materialized in the formal introduction in the Mississippi house of representatives of a bill seeking abolishment of the office of state tax collector, occupied by W. J. Miller.

Duties of the tax collector, principally that of collection of delinquent taxes, would be transferred to the state tax commission, under the proposal, where additional help would be authorized.

The bill, offered by Representative John Buckley, Clarke county, chairman of the special committee, and others, provides that the chairman of the state tax commission shall have authority to institute suits for delinquent taxes only with the approval of the attorney-general.

Legislative interest today centered largely on the address of G. H. Alford, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, who before a joint assembly of the lawmakers attacked a tariff system which he said protects industry and not farmers.

"President Hoover is an arch enemy of the farmer," declared Mr. Alford in stating that the president's efforts which led to the defeat of the debenture plan indicated this.

New legislation offered would prohibit hazing at the University of Mississippi or any other educational institutions in the state supported in whole or part by state funds.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Indictments charging Congressman Stanley H. Kuns and his son, Stanley, Jr., with conspiracy were returned late today and the congressman will be asked to return here for trial waiving extradition. Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin said.

Lavin, in charge of the investigation of alleged sale of civil service positions, said the indictment grew out of a charge made by a candidate for a police job, who did not get a place on the department, and involved passage of $400 between the candidate and the congressman, which the latter has said was merely a loan which has since been repaid.

Lavin, in charge of the investigation of alleged sale of civil service positions, said the indictment grew out of a charge made by a candidate for a police job, who did not get a place on the department, and involved passage of $400 between the candidate and the congressman, which the latter has said was merely a loan which has since been repaid.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Indictments charging Congressman Stanley H. Kuns and his son, Stanley, Jr., with conspiracy were returned late today and the congressman will be asked to return here for trial waiving extradition. Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin said.

EPISCOPALIANS NAME NEW OFFICERS TODAY

Dr. Cary Montague, of Richmond, To Make Address Today.

Election of officers and address by Dr. Cary Montague, of Richmond, before the women's auxiliary at 10 o'clock this morning, will feature today's session of the twenty-third annual meeting of the Atlanta diocese of the Episcopal church at All Saints church.

Dr. Montague will be introduced by Mrs. W. T. Downing, diocesan chairman of the auxiliary social service work. Bishop H. J. Mikell is presiding at the sessions and he is being assisted by Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints church.

The meeting opened Wednesday morning with a council session and a preliminary meeting of the executive board. In the afternoon the council met and a reception was tendered the delegates and the women's auxiliary at the home of Bishop and Mrs. H. J. Mikell. At the night session, Wednesday, Bishop Mikell read his annual report and Dr. W. C. Covell, delegate from the national council spoke. The meeting was at All Saints.

Most of Wednesday, in so far as business was concerned, was spent in the hearing of reports of officers and committees, and appointment of new standing committees for 1930. Dean F. H. Hardy was re-elected secretary of the council, while a nominating committee was selected to nominate officers for election this morning.

Holland Is Urged As Market for U. S.

Industrial development of Holland in recent years makes this country an excellent market for American goods, declared Jesse F. Van Wickel, commercial attaché of the department of commerce at the Hague, in an address before the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club at the Chamber of Commerce building Wednesday afternoon.

American exports to Holland now total about $150,000,000 annually, he said, and are composed principally of tobacco, cotton and lumber. Proximity of other manufacturing nations has retarded development of trade in American manufactured products, but even this field is opening up in late years, the speaker declared. He pointed out as an example of this the recent sale of $125,000 worth of steam plants.

Police Rescue Man From Coal Chute

Lodged in the "elbow" of a coal chute on the Harris street side of the Burdette Oxygen Company at 240 Ivy street, A. C. Brown, of Lithonia, was extricated by Call Officers E. J. Norton and W. C. Nix, in the early hours of Wednesday morning, and despite his assertion that he had accidentally stepped into the chute while walking down the street he was taken to the station house and lodged there under a charge of suspicion.

He told the officers that he had been wedged in the opening for more than an hour. His cries for help were heard by citizens living in the neighborhood and officers were summoned. Brown was so tightly wedged in the "elbow" that he could not move and it took the combined efforts of the two burly policemen to release him.

Supreme Court Gets Income Tax Fight

Constitutionality of the Boykin income tax law will come before the Georgia supreme court today, it was stated Wednesday by the clerk of the court.

The attack was instituted several months ago in Fulton superior court by Rome interests. Allegations of unconstitutionality are that it violates the constitutional tax limits of the state; that it is a delegation of the taxing power to federal authorities, and that it violates the right of privacy attached to federal income tax returns.

Atlanta Boy Honored Harry Hopkins Heads Grid Team at Lee School

Harry Hopkins, 17, junior at Lee School for Boys at Blue Ridge, N. C., has been elected president of the Weatherford Literary Society and captain of the 1930 football team, it was learned Wednesday from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hopkins, of 1202 Springdale road. The young Atlantan also is a member of the student council.

Burned-Out Church To Use Klan Office

The First Christian church of East Point will hold services in new quarters of the Ku Klux Klan, at the corner of South Main and Whiteway streets, it was announced Wednesday by the Rev. C. K. Hutto, pastor. The Klan quarters will be used until the fire damage to the East Point church, suffered January 19, has been repaired.

Only 8 Days Remain To File Tax Returns

With only eight days remaining in which to file returns and make payments on gross receipts or sales tax for the final quarter of 1929, R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner, Wednesday issued a general warning that penalties would be imposed after January 30.

"Every class and character of business is subject to the tax unless officially exempted," Mr. Norman stated. "Blanks for making returns and any information desired will be furnished by the state tax commissioner."

Bring Them "back Home" ... by Telephone!

HOLIDAYS over... children on their way back to school... friends scattered... grown sons and daughters off to the city again...

But there is one sure way of bringing them "back home" all through the year. By telephone! Talking to them is next best to seeing them. And out of town calls are so easy to make these days, so clear and inexpensive. Nineteen million telephones in this country alone are linked to your own in one great System—and you can call any of them, anywhere, any time you wish.

You can make nearly all of your social engagements... by telephone. "Voice visit" with friends, no matter where they are. Keep family ties alive. When your circle of activity and companionship.

Telephone Hour is one way many households keep in touch with friends who live in other cities, and members of the family who are away. It takes but a few minutes and is thoroughly reasonable in cost; yet it pays large returns in appreciation and affection. Why not have a telephone hour this week and every week thereafter?

Business Conditions Fundamentally Sound

"Business conditions are fundamentally sound in this country, and things which appear for the moment as difficulties are only a state of mind which can be quickly overcome if the heads of industries will determine to do so," declared J. E. Barringer, vice president and general manager of the National Cash Register Company in Atlanta Wednesday.

Mr. Barringer is heading a group of officials from his company in conference with sales representatives from this territory. The party is scheduled to cover more than 12,000 miles of sales and trade area before returning home. In a statement made public today Mr. Barringer declared:

"We are engaged at the present time, and will be for a number of weeks, in visiting the domestic sales territories of our company in the United States and Canada explaining in detail the selling policies of the National Cash Register Company, and advising our sales agents as to new types of products which soon will be placed on the market by our company. The N. C. R. Company in 1930 will enjoy a good year. We are presenting more educational helps to salesmen in 1930 than we ever have before and offering the extra inducements as a stimulant to greater sales activity this year. I consider that this country is financially stronger today than ever before. Commodities of all kinds are in demand. The thing that we see before us as a difficulty is only a matter of mind and can be quickly overcome if all of our industrial leaders will determine to do so."

Young Texas Editor Found Dead in Street

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 22.—(P)—Wilbur S. Shaw, 33, Dallas newspaperman and editor of the Dallasite, a magazine, was found dead at a street intersection in the residence district today. He had been frozen to death, or hit by an automobile.

Shaw was last seen in the press room at the city hall late Tuesday. His watch, the crystal shattered, had stopped at 10:25 o'clock last night.

His body bore no marks above the waist indicating he had been killed, but his legs were bruised. One hand had been injured and his hat, with blood on it, was found 50 yards from the body.

Five Persons Die In Airplane Crash

DIEPPE, France, Jan. 22.—(P)—Five persons were killed when a taxi-airplane crashed against a cliff near Dieppe probably Monday. Four of the dead were passengers and the fifth was the pilot. The plane had been missing for two days and it was assumed the smashup occurred during Monday's storm.

Local Bank Debits Keep High Average

Atlanta maintained last month its position as one of the five most prosperous cities, relatively, in the South Atlantic states, although the volume of business transacted measured by debits against individual checking accounts, was less than in December, 1929, according to the Standard Statistics Company, of New York. Value of bank debits is reported as 53 per cent above the average, in comparison with 103 per cent a year ago and 35 per cent above in December, 1927. Value last month was the largest for any December, except 1925, of the last 11 years.

December value of bank debits in the state also declined substantially, being reported as 27 per cent above the average, in comparison with 59 above a year ago.

Moderate advance in purchasing power may be expected in the agricultural sections of the state, but industrial center will show little improvement over present conditions, for at least the first quarter of 1930, the report stated.

Eich Goes on Trial For Murder Today

One year ago today Mrs. Elizabeth Eich was killed by pistol bullet. Today Ernest Eich, her husband, will go on trial in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court in connection with the killing.

Eich claims that his wife shot herself and wounded him.

Eich was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment as the result of his first trial on a charge of murder, the jury recommending mercy. He appealed, and the state supreme court reversed Judge Ogden Persons, of Forsyth, who presided in Fulton superior court for the Eich trial.

Len B. Guillebeau, who represented Eich in the fight before the supreme court, will defend him today. The prosecution will be conducted by Assistant Solicitors-General Ed A. Stephens and John Hudson.

CUT IN IMMIGRATION OPPOSED BY TEXANS

Restriction in Mexican Quota Seen as Dangerous.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Ill feeling which could endanger lives along the border, and lack of Mexican labor which would hamper development of the southwest were depicted to the house immigration committee today as results which might come from raising the bars against immigrants from Latin-American countries.

Appearing with a group from the southwest to present opposition to agricultural interests to proposals to place western hemisphere immigration on a quota basis, Judge H. L. Yates, of Brownsville, Texas, said that if the supply of Mexican labor were cut off it would stop development of the lower Rio Grande valley.

The pictures presented by Yates and by Burton P. Fleming, manager of the Elephant Butte reclamation project in New Mexico, of the serious effects that might come to the southwest from cutting off the supply of Mexican labor led Chairman Johnson, of the committee, to announce that subcommittees would be sent there for a study before making a final draft of the bill.

Process Servers Miss Whitehead, Off on Yacht

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Conkey Whitehead, millionaire New York, Atlanta and Havana sportsman, sailed away from Miami for Palm Beach today while process servers sought him in connection with a $250,000 suit filed here last night by attorneys for Frances Porter, showgirl.

Whitehead's bride of a few weeks, the former Miss Marion Hughes, of New York, remained in a Miami hotel. They came here yesterday on Whitehead's yacht, the Malvern, during their honeymoon.

She said filing of the suit had nothing to do with her husband's departure, nor with her failure to accompany him. He went to Palm Beach to meet her father, she said, while she remained here awaiting delivery of some clothing she had purchased.

The sportsman's difficulties with Miss Porter started more than a year ago while they were on his yacht in Havana harbor. At that time the showgirl said she beat him with her shoes and stuck him with pins during an argument. She later left the Malvern at Key West and returned to Washington.

The nature of the suit filed here last night, at the request of Washington attorneys, was not made public. Local attorneys said they would attempt to start action in Palm Beach upon arrival of the Malvern there.

Miss Porter started court action against Whitehead some time ago but lost on a technicality, Chester Gouley, one of her attorneys, said today.

Ministers Named.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The senate today confirmed the nomination of four ministers to foreign lands. The ministers: Gilbert Baker, Stockholm, of Florida; Austin J. John, Motley Morehead, of New York; to Sweden; Ralph H. Booth, of Michigan, to Denmark; and Henry Wharton Shoemaker, of Pennsylvania, to Bulgaria. The senate confirmed also the nomination of Frank Mott Gunther, of Virginia, to be minister to Ecuador.

Atlanta's Public Utilities CITY HAS FACILITIES TO BOAST ABOUT Play Big Part in Civic Growth

BY R. E. POWELL.

In an age where communication is constantly being accelerated, and where the well-known ultimate consumer is demanding more and more for the hard earned dollar he spends, the part a city's public utilities play in its mass scheme of living—from the material standpoint—is perhaps the outstanding single factor.

Atlanta, in this respect, has much to boast and little, if anything, to keep in the skeleton of material slant—is an outstanding public service corporation, furnishing the city its gas, telephone, electric light and street railway service, its position, comparatively speaking, is a zealous chamber of commerce desires.

With headquarters of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company located here, representing the concentration of telephone activities for the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Atlanta's growth as a city is splendidly reflected in the statistical information which the telephone company gathers.

69,255 in Service.
On December 31, 1929, 69,255 telephones were in service in Atlanta, a gain of 2,920 new telephones for the year, and an increase from 17,768 in 1912 and from 30,604 in 1920. The latter figure shows that the number of telephone users in the city has more than doubled in the past decade.

It is now estimated by engineers of the company that there will be 115,000 telephones in service in Atlanta in 1940, a potential increase of more than 600 per cent in thirty years. The local telephone plant required to render this service has been expanded to meet this growth until it is now twice as large as the plant in 1920. More than 442,000 local calls are handled every day. Of these, 167,900 are dial calls and 474,500 are manual calls. This is an increase of 100,000 calls per day during the past three years.

Long Distance Center.
Atlanta, also, is the largest long distance center and the most important toll switching point in the southeast. At present, there are an average of 4,250 originating long distance calls and 4,000 switched calls per day. The originating calls are made by the Atlanta telephone users while the switched calls come into Atlanta from other points and are dispatched to their destination.

There are now 300 circuits terminating in Atlanta and extending directly to 110 different cities. The heavy volume of business requires 13 circuits each to Birmingham and Macon, seven to New York, five each to Chicago, Miami and Cincinnati, two to Detroit and Cleveland and one to Dallas and St. Louis.

The new long distance switchboard will consist of 132 operating positions and is the largest ever installed by the Southern Bell company.

Chicago Cops Scale Heights Of Real Service
CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The police department last night scaled the heights of service, and Mrs. Mary Tiller was delighted.

One of four men grabbed her purse and fled with his companions in an automobile. Mrs. Tiller boarded a street car and went directly to a police station.

"My purse," she began, "was—"

"Yes, yes, of course," said the sergeant. "Here it is. And here are the men who took it."

A police squad had arrested the men on suspicion, found the purse and a pistol, and had taken them to the station to await the arrival of the victim.

'No Whipping' School Burns to Ground
GREENWOOD, Ark., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Greenwood's new "no whipping" high school, built from a bequest by a foe of corporal punishment, was in ruins today after a fire of undetermined origin.

The one-story brick structure was dedicated with impressive ceremonies last Armistice Day which was designated as "Alexander Day" in honor of the late E. S. Alexander, of Dallas, Texas, who bequeathed $30,000 for its construction.

Alexander 30 years ago was a merchant in Greenwood and a member of the school board. As such he bitterly opposed corporal punishment in schools. He left and the town heard no more from him until last year the school board received a $100 check from him to be used in any way it desired if corporal punishment was entirely abolished in the schools.

Carnegie Hero Fund Announces 25 Awards
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP)—United States.—Two silver and 23 bronze medals were awarded at the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission's annual meeting today in recognition of 25 acts of heroism.

Six of the heroes lost their lives in saving or attempting to save those of other persons. Pensions aggregating $1,540 a year were awarded to dependents of four of those who gave their lives.

Specific awards totalling $19,500, to disabled heroes or to dependents.

Crash Victim's Body Recovered in Lake
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Waters of Lake Worth today gave up the body of William L. Lasky, Dartmouth College mechanic, who with two other men lost their lives when a large cabin monoplane plunged into the lake last Sunday. The body came to the surface a few hundred feet from the scene of the crash and was picked up in a boat operated by Captain John C. Smith.

A long distance cable is also being constructed from Atlanta to New York. It has been completed from Washington to Greenville, S. C., and will be completed to Atlanta in 1931. This will be one of the longest toll cables in the country and will be stormproof.

Growth Anticipated.
The long distance expansion now under way in Atlanta and throughout the south is in anticipation of continued growth which is expected to result in 725 terminating circuits in Atlanta in 1934 as compared with 300 at present.

Another of many records Atlanta has set up in recent years was established in 1929 when, by comparison with all southern and southeastern cities, it ranked first in the operation of street railways per pull-in. A "pull-in" in street motive vernacular, means the withdrawal of street car from service when it fails to operate under its own power and repairs are necessary before it can be returned to duty. An example of the efficiency of the Atlanta street car service is in November's record, when during a month of abnormally bad weather—the record cars of the Georgia Railway Company operated a total of 268,587 miles for every pull-in reported.

Many New Street Cars.
While some additions to the service of the other cities, as well as Atlanta, have been made since the publication of a series of advertisements concerning its record, it is believed that there are more new street cars running today in Atlanta than have been bought in the last seven years by Birmingham, Jacksonville, Miami, St. Petersburg, Chattanooga, Nashville, El Paso, Fort Worth, Mobile, Raleigh and Asheville—all combined.

"I have this outstanding impression of Atlanta," Joseph Johnson, public service commissioner of New York state, wrote to power company officials after a visit here some months ago, "and that is that it has the best street railway system in the United States that I have visited."

Probably there is nothing so significant in Atlanta's promise of future development as the expansion program of the Atlanta Gas Light company, or, as one of the officials observed, "nothing which so clearly indicates a large corporation's willingness to gamble on the future."

Main System Revamped.
More than one million dollars has been expended in revamping the mains of the company to meet the changes made necessary by the introduction of natural gas. An additional $2,500,000 in the next two years will be spent by this public utility alone in the face of an estimated forty per cent decrease in total revenue based on the services it now renders to the community.

In the past 13 years there has been an increase of about fifty per cent in the consumption but the plans for the future include an expansion to meet demands ten times the present capacity, based on manufactured gas measurements, and twenty times based on natural gas.

"A community which has the privilege of using natural gas," says C. Diehl, natural gas authority whose book is the standard work in schools and universities, "for individual and domestic consumption grows at a greater rate than a community which has not been so favored."

Alaska Plans To Boost Frigid Arctic Climate
POINT BARROW, Alaska, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Point Barrow, which is the northernmost point of Alaska and well within the arctic circle, is thinking of organizing a Chamber of Commerce and inviting sufferers in the frigid areas of the United States to come here for comfort.

While the sun broke through the northern haze yesterday for the first time in two months, Eskimos gathered about a government teachers' radio set and listened incredulously to reports of sub-zero weather on the shores of Gitchee-Gumee, the shining big sea water near Chicago, and other water-stricken regions in the middlewest, south and west, the temperature here was 30 above zero.

Pope Pius Prays For His Predecessor
VATICAN CITY, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Pope Pius this morning attended a solemn requiem mass in the Sistine chapel, chanted for the repose of the soul of his predecessor, Benedict XV, who died just eight years ago today, having reigned from 1914.

Cardinal Mistrangelo, archbishop of Florence, officiated. Since he was the first of the living wearers of the purple to be raised to that dignity by the late pope, the mass was witnessed by about 20 cardinals of Curia, residing permanently in Vatican City or Rome, including the junior cardinal, Pacelli. Members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the holy see; of the "black" or papal aristocracy, and of the Della Chiesa family, to which Pope Benedict belonged, also figured in the congregation.

Pius XI followed the services from a throne set on the "gospel side"—left, as one faces—of the magnificent altar, being led there in procession escorted by his noble guard, the Swiss Guards, and the papal gentlemen, but without the pomp of other occasions. At the conclusion of the mass he imparted benediction.

Dr. Henry F. Hoyt, Adventurer, Is Dead
LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Word was received here today of the death in Japan of Dr. Henry F. Hoyt, frontier adventurer of a generation ago, former chief surgeon of the United States army in the Philippines and once health commissioner of St. Paul.

Dr. Hoyt, who left here early in December, with a sister, Mrs. George Wilson, of Minneapolis, died in Yokohama en route home from Manila, where he and Mrs. Wilson had visited another sister, Mrs. George Harvey. He was 70 years old.

Before settling here 20 years ago, Dr. Hoyt led a life of adventure from the Mexican to the Canadian borders. He wrote an autobiography for which Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, provided an introduction.

W.M. CAMP, SR., NAMED HEAD OF OLD GUARD

W. L. Hancock Elected Adjutant and Treasurer for Sixth Term.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—It is a dull day in the house of representatives when the high-pitched voice of Fiorello H. La Guardia is not raised against the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law.

The republican congressman from Harlem, recently defeated by James Walker for the New York mayoralty, is the most persistent proponent in congress of the anti-prohibition cause. When less enthusiastic wets virtually gave up the fight last year, La Guardia went blithely on filing the Congressional Record with anti-prohibition arguments.

Now his colleagues give him most of the credit for rejuvenation of the "beer bloc" and for its ambitious propaganda campaign. Despite disagreements among its 40 dependable members, the wet group has reorganized and adopted a definite program.

Wet Leader.
Although not an officer in the wet organization, La Guardia will be a leader in its campaign to "smoke out" members who are neither wet nor dry before the next election and to keep the prohibition issue alive until congress becomes wet. Of this eventuality, La Guardia and a few of his colleagues admit no doubt.

La Guardia's belief in the harmlessness of alcoholic beverages is ingrained. The son of an Italian immigrant and army band master, La Guardia was brought up on the fare which includes table wine. Ever since entering congress in 1916 he has been an opponent of prohibition. He still serves beer and wine at home and several times has publicly invited prohibition agents to interfere.

His congressional service was interrupted by the World War, in which he served as an aviation major on the Italian front, and later for two years, when he was aldermanic president of New York.

Merchant Kills Self.
JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Ben K. Beacham, 37, president and manager of the Beacham Supply Company here, was found mortally wounded in his room at a local hotel this morning, a pistol in his hand. He died a short time later.

Beacham registered at the hotel early this morning. He left a note saying that he "could not make ends meet."

La Guardia Fiery Leader Of Militant Dry Act Forces
Picturesque Little Italian Is Vigorous Worker

BY KENNETH G. CRAWFORD,
United News Staff Correspondent.

La Guardia was educated in the Prescott (Ariz.) high school, close to the army post where his father was stationed. He was appointed to the consular service when 19 and served at Budapest and Trieste for four years. Later he returned to this country and studied law. He is master of several languages, including Italian and Yiddish.

Last year he took an hour off from congressional duties to marry his secretary, Miss Marie Fisher. She is still his secretary. The ceremony was performed by the late Representative O. J. Kvale, of Minnesota, who was elected to congress on a "drier than Volstead" platform, defeating Volstead himself.

Whatever descriptive merit La Guardia's first name, which means little flower, may have had when it was bestowed has been lost during the 48 years of his busy life. He is short and stocky with the swarthy complexion and black hair of the Latin.

In debate on the floor he suggests a fighting cock more than a flower. He talks rapidly, his right arm working like a piston to emphasize every statement.

Grain Duty Frauds Charged by Borah
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—An affidavit charging that the government was being defrauded of more than $200,000 a year in customs duties on Canadian grain imports at Buffalo, under the "overrun" system, was submitted to the senate today by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho.

Slayer's Family and Partners of Slain Raiders Differ.
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Conflicting testimony as to the time and manner of the raid on the residence of George W. Moore last Saturday when two federal dry agents were killed was given before a coroner's jury here today.

The time element was injected by the defense which sought to show that the search was illegal on the grounds that a daytime warrant was used after nightfall.

James S. Kugler and W. M. McNulty, surviving members of the quartet of agents who tried to search the Moore place, testified that the raid was made during daytime. They said they drove to the residence with lights, that no street lamps were lighted and that the only light in the residence was in the kitchen.

On the other hand, Mrs. Moore and her daughter, Ollie, 14, took the stand to assert that the family was together in a lighted front room of the house and that the raid had come without warning.

To testimony from the agents that James K. Moncure, one of the slain men, had knocked at the front door and had shown the warrant to Moore the wife and daughter countered that the first warning of the search came when Mrs. Moore saw a man in the kitchen.

With more than 20 witnesses to hand, the inquest was recessed at 3 p. m. until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Moore did not take the stand today.

NOTICE your dress or suit the second or third wearing after we return it. Our through-and-through cleaning lasts longer. The cloth has a fresh new look, a clean lustre that "just any" dry cleaning method cannot give. The reason—soil and dust are cleaned out of the cloth at these plants—not ground in. We wash dust away with hundreds—yes, hundreds of gallons of fresh cleansing fluid. Then when the fabric is clean as clean can be we press it smooth and trim to the shapely fit of a new garment. Notice that our plaiting stays in—our pressing lasts longer.

LET us clean your garment regularly for a year. See how long it wears—how it enters its second year of usefulness in surprisingly good condition. For our dry cleaning method treats your clothes kindly. We use no harsh chemicals. Our dry cleaning equipment is gentle in motion. Our dry cleaners are experts, trained in the art of giving new life to clothes. Your garment wears longer when it gets our careful dry cleaning.

MAIL AWARDS ASKED
FOR U. S. SHIP BUYERSOfficials Say Preference Should Be Shown to Purchasers.WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—
The support by three governmentalagencies of a policy to give preference to purchasers of shipping board lines in the award of ocean mail contracts was recorded today with the house merchant marine committee.
Postmaster-General Brown and Chairman O'Connor, of the shipping board, held that the government should, when possible, award the mail contracts to operators who have built up the line involved after purchasing its ships from the government.
Secretary Lamont, of the commerce department, said this preference should be recognized but that it should be limited by the circumstances surrounding each individual case. He was opposed, he explained, to the"holding up" of the government just to satisfy the preference theory.
All three witnesses, appearing in half of the White bill to clarify the intent of congress in existing legislation governing the award of mail contracts were strongly in favor of the development of a merchant marine upon a sound basis.25 Indicted Here

Catarrh Robs Patient of Vital ResistanceFind a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many reme-

The Authority—We ought to obey God rather than men—Acts 5:29.
Prayer: Enable us, Lord, to obey Thy final command and love one another.

THE STIMSON SPEECH

The speech made by Secretary of State Stimson at the opening of the London conference was in frank American spirit and voiced the sentiments of his fellow citizens. It was absolutely right for him to inform the delegates from other nations that we of the great republic wish for the ultimate safe disarmament of the nations that could use militaristic or naval power to involve mankind in another world conflict that might easily become the conclusion of their present civilization.

In terms that are as conciliatory and certain as the occasion demanded, Secretary Stimson declared the objective of American participation in the impending parley. He expressed the optimism of our people that a definite result will be attained by the conference—a result that will make a strong and irreversible step toward a peace concord among the earth's controlling peoples.

Those who have a fair understanding of the power of nationalistic psychology, and of the cautious dreads which accompany international relations, and the economic relations of peoples trading with the world, can appreciate why Secretary Stimson stressed the opinion that this particular conference must arrive at partial rather than final agreements. There must be, second, and perhaps other progressive steps toward the final goal. Hence the wisdom of believing that at the start and accommodating agreements that will make toward the ultimate supreme decision—the great accord which will make relics of warships and sink the submarines "spurious verbiage."

In his stalwart pacific attitude at London the secretary who speaks for them may feel a yet firmer surety that his countrymen are at his back.

THE VIRGINIA DOCTRINE

The new governor of Virginia, Dr. Pollard, who is a close student of history and political economics, said to the legislature in his first message, that "taxes follow wealth and schools follow the children."

In that sentence he largely stated the salients of what he holds the policy of the state should be.

The main idea is that whatever the people demand of their government in the forms of protection and service they must pay for. That much, at least, is axiomatic. The always debatable question is how they are to raise the money out of themselves—whether by direct or indirect taxes, by capitulation assessments, by excises, licenses and franchises?

For all the term of our American governmental life the common resort for public funds has been taxes levied upon real and tangible properties. In earlier eras of state experience those taxes were usually adequate, but as our governments have grown in their complexities and become the common agencies for services previously dependent upon individual effort or cooperative supply, property taxes not only become insufficient, but frequently oppressive, and have had to be limited in many states. In Georgia they are fixed at not more than 5 mills ad valorem.

Governor Pollard states in few words the newer philosophy of taxation that modern state economics is forcing into play. It holds that "taxes must follow wealth." That does not mean that every item of a citizen's possessions must be considered a constituent of his personal "wealth" and be taxed. We have a reliable statement that "a man's wealth does not consist in what he hath." Property in the shape of lands, tenements, flocks and herds, are commonly

The Fish Delirium.

The French government is back once more at the fish course. "Eat fish," so reads the noble advice on the placards that have been posted up in the streets in Paris and other French cities. Some of the posters go so far as to tell the citizens to "Eat Much Fish." "Mangez beaucoup de Poisson." It's all very well, but there is a limit to all good things. The French government has a fish fit once before. That was during the war. The allied and associated powers, we are sorry to say, associated themselves in this case in conspiracy. All of them decided at a given moment to feed their warships fish. This was around August or September, 1917. The United States marines were already on the front and they shared the course. Some genius in the commissariat department probably got a medal for himself, and medals for all his ilk for conceiving that fish idea. Anyhow, we all ate fish, till we could feel the fins sprouting out of our necks and our epi-dermis all got scaly. Some fellows acted suspiciously as if they were about to take a swim. "It's brain food," said our colonel, that mean guy. "You fellows ought to be thankful to the government for wishing to do you good. Your brains sure need development, if ever anybody's did." He was probably right there, but he took us down the wrong road. We had a voice left to protest. We had all gone the way of the fishes and grown dumb. How we got the strength to take the fish out of our heads and trenches after 14 days of fish is a miracle, as mysterious as that business about the angels of Mons. Still, it did it—somehow. The German boys we found had a tremendous stock of first-class beer in their dugouts, captured the stock and went to it. They got well after fish. The commissariat wallahs, having heard of our capture, sent over some gulks to get some of the loot. We fixed them up with 20 gulks apiece. The next day our fare changed. It was plum and apple this time. And plum and apple it stayed for a month.

Humane Gas.

Doctor Binet-Sangle, who is the author of more than one curious book, notably a four-volume one in which he seeks to prove that the Founder of Christianity and the 12 apostles were exalted fogs (fous illuminés), has just published a booklet in which he writes of the softest and least painful manner to commit suicide. The doctor, who is professor of psychology at the Sorbonne, declares in the preface of his booklet that it pains him to see so many people adopting such crude and harsh weapons as revolvers and gas to put an end to their days. Hence he advises all who wish to benefit from his advice to take a special kind of gas, which he has named "humane gas." He suggests this kind of gas also as a means to expedite criminals who are condemned to death. Instead of the guillotine or the electric chair he would like to see those unfortunate human beings laugh themselves to death. Their cells could be flooded imperceptibly with the gas, he says, and they would go out in a roar of laughter that bursts all their blood vessels. It's difficult to think of more cynical piece of cruelty, in our estimation.

The Tonsil Question Contains Some Humor.

(In Two Parts—Part Two Tomorrow)

Tastes differ, as I know to my sorrow, from the great editor who writes that if he could he'd inject humor into the obituary notices. Some editors can. There's the card of thanks to all the kind friends who assist in the removal of illness and death of our beloved ones; now some editors would edit that.

I haven't had a peek at my own tonsils for a long time, but I infer I haven't any to speak of. So I can consider humor in the situation, there's no poor guess with bad tonsils might not be a bit.

To begin with, we regular doctors are funny about it, really funny. As a rule we arbitrarily insist that tonsil removal or cutting instruments of various types, or by dissection with blunt instruments or the fingers—this is the only way to deal with them. We are wont to argue that only by such formal, and sometimes formalistic, methods can we possibly make a thorough job of it and dispose of the entire tonsil.

We have been taught by great teachers that the tonsils are the seat of infection and are simply funny. The tonsils are not at all his merriment.

Just when diathermy was invented I don't know, but I do know that it was refined and adapted to the treatment of enlarged and diseased tonsils only two or three years ago. So it is probably too early to expect the tonsil to be the seat of infection, fully informed about this new method, or its value in this particular application.

Another humorous aspect of the tonsil question is the policy of the leading medical journal, which numbers at least two-thirds of the reputable physicians of the country among its subscribers (though how many of 'em read it is another question). This publication printed, a year ago, a contribution by two young Chicago doctors, condemning the new method as inadequate, on what I consider insufficient grounds. But the unfavorable impression so broadcast among the physicians has become the settled view or opinion of many a good doctor. The humor of this is that the same medical organ rejects favorable reports of the method offered by physicians of at least as good standing in the medical organization itself and the editor explains that the method is "still in the experimental stage" and therefore it would be improper to print anything favorable about it. The editor is a pretty shrewd editor but scarcely a physician of experience. However, the rank and file of the profession has received the bad impression, and a good many earnest physicians are taking a wrong view of a method they don't understand at all.

There are more than a thousand miniature golf courses in operation in Florida this season which measures up to the standing of the golfers.

To escape that parrot fever we shall have to cut the parrots dead—the association wasn't very elevating at the most, especially those birds brought in by sailors.

The senate refused to accept Senator Robison's credentials by wire, possibly because it was suggestive of wire-pulling.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL
The Duty of Educated Georgians To Wipe Off the Illiteracy Blotch.

Our very able and zealous state superintendent of schools, Dr. M. L. Duggan, is making a heroic effort to reduce adult illiteracy to the minimum in the state before the recording of the national census of 1930.

He needs some financial aid to carry on the unofficial and voluntary work. The state government cannot give him funds for it. It cannot even pay the many thousands of teachers who have been serving the children of the schools during the past year.

The percentage of white illiteracy in Georgia is less than in some other states, but it is still great enough to leave a stigma upon the escutcheon of a people as proud as we profess to be and as rich as we actually are. In the roster of states we occupy a shamefully low position educationally.

Ignorance of His Low Estate.

Frequently the poor devil who cannot read and write, who can't figure the price of his own labor or produce, who can't spell out the word over a store door or that at a crossroads, is also densely ignorant of the pitiful figure he cuts among his fellow citizens.

One can scarcely imagine a more helpless person as he is jostled around in the whirls of an active and competitive civilization as this in which we are living.

God knows it is 95 times out of a hundred a day-in-and-day-out fight with the ignorant, who are more or less education, to keep aloof on the tides of labor and business.

But no man with a common schooling can possibly enter into the secret thoughts of these fellows who live in practical mental fog and must grope their way through life by the help of those who are willing to read for them and write and cipher for them.

Nevertheless, We Are Guilty.

No man in Georgia knows better than I do what trials and tribulations we have gone through since the close of the War Between the States. We have known the horrors of the poverty which has afflicted our people, and the splendid courage with which our comrades and sons have fairly overcome them.

Necessarily for many years in the later sixties, and even into the seventies, bread and meat had to figure ahead of books and studies. Many of these children of the poor had had slight chances of schooling during the war had to go into work, especially in the country areas, and force capitalism and industrialism are natural, changeless laws beyond social control. If this position is correctly taken, the crass materialism of Karl Marx is its logical consequence. The competitive struggle for the development of humane principles in industrial relations demonstrates its falsity. They are one of the indications that the materialized social order is in process of disintegration. Bio-ethics now demand a higher plane of existence for the unprivileged. As Mr. Owen D. Young has well said, the working man is entitled not only to a living but also to a cultural wage.

The mixture of motives begets the whole issue. Clear thinking, which is a right with humane and Christian as to riches and poverty, is sadly to seek because self-interest frequently dictates opinions and fosters prejudice. Nevertheless, the turmoil of our time, the steady drift of social forces is in the direction of improvement. You may be sure that the man who is not the object of living for the means to live, (Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution.)

Willmette, Ill.

I am a naturalized American who served in the World War, and tried my level best to live up to the ideals of my adopted country. There are, however, several individuals with whom I come in contact, and who call themselves 100 per cent Americans, one of whom took to the shipyards during the war, and another to the military service, who were excellent physical specimens, and fully able to do front line duty. Now after the drums have ceased to beat, and the foreign birth and cast aspersions upon my patriotism, I replied to this in a manner which two of these traitors and scoundrels appreciated, namely by knocking out the teeth of one and closing the eye of the other. Since then there has been peace. However, I have no ideas on the question first stated.

Does Americanism depend on the accident of birthplace?

Do not take puerile criticisms too seriously. You are a demon strator your Americanism to the full, and you can afford to let it rest on that. The two fools who twitted you are not worthy to have their names mentioned in connection with you, however, you seem to have disposed of them.

I confess that few specimens of ignorance, conceit and arrogance are more insufferable than those of whom I have just spoken. They are typical. They and their kind have made "100 per cent" a cant phrase which even tub thumping politicians avoid.

Professionally, the religion of the Jew is no better than professional of any other species. Steer clear of them.

Certainly Americanism does not depend on one's birth, and nothing connects the religion of the Jew with the American flag. Millions of living proofs to the contrary abound throughout the republic. They include some of its most honored and noblest citizens. The Jew, as a whole, is not a better than professional of any other species. Steer clear of them.

Life Insurance and Thrift—Sunshine vs. Moonshine.

Joseph S. Lawrence, author of "Wall Street and Washington," has made some interesting compilations regarding the federal reserve system. He says the gross earnings of the federal reserve 15 years ago, or slightly in excess of $800,000,000, are now in excess of $2,000,000,000.

Out of every dollar of gross earnings 42.3 cents are used in the conduct of the bank, 31.6 cents pass into surplus, 16.1 cents are paid to the United States government, and 10 cents to the sole owners, the member banks.

"At the end of 1928," says Mr. Lawrence, "the surplus of the federal reserve banks amounted to 160 per cent of the paid-in capital. By the end of 1929 this had been raised to 162 per cent. Net earnings for the past year amounted to $38,408,000, or 22.9 per cent on the average paid-in capital."

"Again this sum was divided as follows: $5,884,000 as dividends to member banks; $4,253,200 as a franchise fee to the treasury; $22,538,000 to the surplus account."

But the withdrawal of member banks from the reserve system continues, causing much anxiety. Only 10 per cent of the total deposits of the country are part of the federal reserve system.

In the bulletin of the National Business Survey Conference—the official organ of the Bureau of National Business Committee—a suggestion is made regarding just what information from the various industries is wanted for a comprehensive survey:

Ascertain the strong and weak spots. Pass up the strong ones; just be glad they exist.

Put the microscope on the weak ones. Find out their causes. Determine proper measures for dealing with them.

Put the program into practical effect.

The Machine Tool Builders' Association of Cincinnati puts the same thing this way: "We should not try to make the country a better place by taking to make her shine as a commonwealth of intelligence and the powers of brain and brawn that only education can fashion and operate."

Then having a 100 per cent intelligent white population, we can perceive more clearly the civic and economic need of a literate colored citizenship and with humane and Christian spirit cheerfully assume that responsibility and the cost of training every negro child in the state in the essentials of an English education. That, too, will help to enrich and glorify the state.

Another ruling of the United States supreme court has clipped the wings of the federal trade commission's jurisdiction under the Clayton trust act. It was in finding that the purchasing by one shoe company of the stock of another, when less than 5 per cent of the business stock of the latter, is in competition with each other, does not substantially lessen competition.

This really is a reverse ruling of the federal trade commission, which permits the International Shoe Company to divest itself of the stock of the W. H. McElwain Company on the ground that it was a violation of the Clayton trust act.

It developed at the hearing that the International sells to a country trade, while the other company handles city trade.

Yesterday was National Life Insurance Day in Thrift Week.

Life insurance has become a form of thrift. The United States, with one-sixteenth of the world's population, has more than 10 per cent of the world's life insurance in the entire world.

That seems big, but yet only about half of the population are insured. The life insurance industry is a business in force today as at the beginning of 1900, the amount, $100,000,000,000, is scarcely equal to the sum of the national income for one year.

The national wealth is about $400,000,000,000, as compared with $40,000,000,000, a half century ago. At that time, banking deposits totaled $2,000,000,000, today they are over $50,000,000,000. During the same time, life insurance policies have increased from 700,000 to more than 100,000,000—and from $2,000,000,000 to over $100,000,000,000.

Now
Frigidaire gives you the

HYDRATOR

The Hydrator is a marvelous new moist air compartment that makes vegetables and salad materials delightfully fresh and tender. See it demonstrated today.

Now, with the development of the Hydrator, Frigidaire offers a new service to users . . . a special compartment for vegetables and foods that need added moisture.

You can put wilted celery in the Hydrator and make it crisp and fresh again. You can make lettuce tender and brittle. You can quickly restore the firmness of radishes, tomatoes and other vegetables. You can keep all your green vegetables fresh and full-flavored until you're ready to use them—all in one compact compartment.

And Frigidaire offers other added features

Today every household Frigidaire is equipped with the Hydrator. It is part of the surplus value offered by Frigidaire. So, too, is the famous "Cold Control" which enables you to speed the freezing of ice cubes and desserts.

And in addition to these two outstanding features—the Hydrator and the "Cold Control"—Frigidaire has the extra power that insures dependable refrigeration regardless of outside temperatures. All mechanical parts are concealed—and quiet. Patented self-sealing ice trays permit the freezing chamber to be kept intensely cold. And to make Frigidaire still more practical and more strikingly beautiful, every household cabinet is now rust-proof Porcelain-on-steel inside and out.

Don't miss our special demonstration

But let us tell you more about these features. And by all means let us demonstrate the new Frigidaire Hydrator. Call at our display room at your first opportunity.

U.S. PEN CONSTRUCTION BILL PASSES HOUSE

Measure Calls for Building of Two New Federal Penitentiaries.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—The Snell bill to authorize the construction of two additional federal penitentiaries was passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

One of the institutions is to be constructed in one of the northeastern states and the other, a reformatory, west of the Mississippi river.

There was no specified amount carried for the construction or site costs, but the projects constitute the major items in the justice department's $7,000,000 federal prison construction program.

The house rejected an amendment by Representative Schaefer, republican, Wisconsin, to provide for placing one of the prisons in Ohio and the other in Idaho, so "officials convicted in those states for violations of law should be near their loved ones."

The house also passed the Graham bill to create a single board of parole under the justice department in lieu of all existing federal parole boards. It now goes to the senate.

The board will consist of three members to be appointed by the attorney general, who sponsored the measure.

Consideration of the measure precipitated the daily prohibition controversy in the house and wet or dry, including LaGuardia, republican, New York; Sabath, democrat, Illinois; and Black, democrat, New York, assailed prohibition as one of the major causes for the increasing prison populations.

LaGuardia asserted that 50 per cent of the increase was due to the liquor laws.

Representative Dyer, republican, Missouri, replied that other laws were responsible for the climb in prison population and said federal funds should use some discretion in sending violators to federal prisons.

Sinclair Lewis Asks Alimony Reduction

RENO, Nev., Jan. 22.—(P)—Sinclair Lewis, the author, is seeking a reduction from $1,000 to $200 a month in his alimony payments to Mrs. Grace Hegger Lewis. They were divorced here a year ago, and Lewis later married Dorothy Thompson, writer and lecturer.

In an affidavit Lewis says he expects his income to be $10,000 or less this year because he will devote nearly all his time to a novel having to do with labor. He asks that he be allowed to pay his former wife $200 a month, and later if his income justifies it to increase this so that she will receive one-fourth of his gross income.

Lewis exchanged several letters with his former wife in an effort to have her accept the smaller payments, but she has declined and will resist the motion when it comes up for hearing here next Saturday morning. At the time Lewis and his former wife separated he gave her outright $50,000 in securities and set aside another $50,000 as a trust fund for his son, Wells.

Masonic Outlook Bright, Taylor Tells Local Club

Modern Masons today are engaged in the task of building great men, just as in ancient times they produced great governments and developed great sciences, Dr. Hugh W. Taylor, of Cuthbert, grand master of the Georgia grand lodge, told the Atlanta Masonic Club at a luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont given by B. C. Broyles, president of the Atlanta Masonic Club.

Dr. Taylor was the honor guest at the luncheon, and others invited to meet him included several of the high ranking Masonic figures in Georgia, and Masons from other states.

Dr. Taylor is a grandson of the late Dr. J. W. Taylor, of Lutherville, for years head of Masonry in Georgia, and one of the most eminent members of the organization in its national councils.

Already with a membership of 65,000 to 70,000 in Georgia, Masonry is entering a new era which promises to see the order's usefulness and influence greatly enhanced, Dr. Taylor said.

Masons have played a prominent part, he explained, in state, national and international adjustments. Dr. Taylor told of the national grand lodge's support of J. K. Orr's program of encouraging the young generation to read the Bible, especially the "Proverbs" written by that patriarch of Masons, King Solomon.

Capacity of Human Brain

Scientist Asserts Its Complex Beyond Imagination Far Greater Than Ever Used

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, Smithsonian anthropologist, believes man has the inherent brain capacity to think from 10 to a hundred times more effectively than he does now.

If the brain whose mental gymnastics, in his opinion, depend upon its circulatory system, had the blood supply provisions of the lungs both in afflux and in elimination of effete materials, then he would be frequently on the intellectual mountain tops.

There are moments, he said here today, experienced once in a while by every normal human being when for a time he stands mentally above all life's perplexities in the sunshine of an Utopia. Then it is that the brain is fresh with a rich blood supply and no waste matter chatters the cells.

This would be man's usual rather than very rare experience, he thinks, if the brain could be continually fed in all parts of its structure by a full, pure blood stream, carrying ample supplies of oxygen as well as nutritive materials.

Such a condition may possibly be realized under evolution's influence, he said, adding that man today gets

U. S. Population At 10:45 A. M. Is 121,951,856

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—The population of the United States at 10:45 a. m. today was estimated by the census bureau at 121,951,856.

In the course of the immigration committee's hearing today on the Johnson and Box bills to restrict western hemisphere immigration, Chairman Johnson found a need for exact figures on the country's present population. He dispatched a message to the immigration bureau and obtained this information:

One birth every 13 seconds.
One death every 23 seconds.
One immigrant entering the country every 1 1/2 minutes.

One immigrant leaving the country every five minutes.

The average increase in country's population as based on these figures, was placed at one every 33 seconds, with the excess of births over deaths estimated at 900,000 annually, and the above total estimated.

Texas Lawyer's Case Exhausts Jury Panel

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Jan. 22.—(P)—With the first panel of 250 veniremen exhausted and only three jurors chosen for the murder trial of John W. Brady, former justice of the state commission of appeals and prominent barrister, 200 additional talesmen were summoned today.

Little hope was felt that even the second panel would suffice to obtain a jury. Fixed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the 30-year-old defendant, who is accused of stabbing to death on November 9 Miss Leolin Highsmith, 28-year-old stenographer, caused elimination of most of the first 250 veniremen questioned.

Court was recessed last night until 2 o'clock this afternoon to give bailiffs time to subpoena the additional tales-

FORCES CONTROLLING AIR ARE DENOUNCED

What Is Best for Radio Public Discussed at Hearing Before Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—What is best for the radio public—entertainment or instruction—was discussed before the senate interstate commerce committee today as congress was challenged to overcome the forces which a witness charged were controlling broadcasting.

Appearing for station WCFL at Chicago, Hope Thompson, an attorney, testified that the station had been denied a cleared channel by the radio commission because, among other reasons, its program was declared inferior to that broadcast by station WBBM in the same city. He listed the latter station as among 600 broadcasters devoting a large part of their time to jazz.

"I don't see any reason in the world," he said, "why 600 stations should try to outdo each other with jazz."

He added that "the powers" which he said had the choice channels were "so influential" that he did not believe congress would dare "meet the situation."

The committee is considering a bill by Chairman Coughens to group radio and telegraph under a new communications commission.

Station WCFL, operated by the American Federation of Labor, the witness continued, had organized a junior federation, had interested itself in boys' work, and had sponsored an open forum for discussion of public questions, only to be told by the commission that it was putting out "propaganda" and to be denied the air after sunset, Pacific time. He explained, however, that while the station did not object to entertainment some of the time it operated on the theory that radio offered a great opportunity for instruction.

Counties to promote interest among Masons are stimulating activity, Dr. Taylor said. Charity objects of the order are drawing splendid support from the membership and in this connection he mentioned the Atlanta Masonic Club's provision of the milk fund at the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, the recent erection of the children's ward at the Alto tubercular hospital, and the Atlanta Masonic Club's donation of radios for the entire hospital. Three hundred children are cared for at the Masonic Home in Macon.

Dr. Taylor was introduced by Dr. Claud N. Hughes, a former college mate, Julian Boehm, Judge Thomas Jeffries and Robert H. Jones, Jr., made short talks. Music for the meeting was provided by Arthur Northman.

Other guests included Past Grand Masters Raymond Daniel, Thomas H. Jeffries and Joe P. Bowdoin; William A. Fuller, potentate of Yaarab temple; Judge Nash Broyles, of the court of appeals; Clark Howell, of The Atlanta Constitution; Thomas Wisdom, state auditor; Past Potentate Thomas C. Law, of Yaarab temple; James B. Nevin, of the Georgian, and others.

Dr. Taylor returns to Atlanta on Friday to lay the cornerstone of the new Grand Park school at 2:30 o'clock.

Local Merchants To Name Officers For '30 Tonight

Election of officers will be the feature of the annual meeting and banquet of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association to be held at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The association is composed of approximately 500 Atlanta retailers. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, will be the principal speaker and following the meeting and election of officers, a dinner-dance has been arranged. A special program featuring a number of prominent Atlanta entertainers also will be presented.

The nominating committee, which is to submit the names of the new officers for election, is headed by G. C. Green, himself a past president. T. G. Woolford is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the entertainment.

The retiring officers of the association are: John C. Sage, president; Clark Harrison, first vice president; E. G. Beaudry, L. C. Fulton, J. L. Hawk, Henry Muench, Fort Adams; V. Manget Davis, A. E. Foster, and C. D. Harris, vice presidents. C. V. Hohnstein, executive secretary, and G. C. Gress, chairman of the executive committee.

"CANNED HAPPINESS"

Head of Canners Says Homes Have Been Helped.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(United News)—The American canning industry has done much to make America a nation of happily married couples, C. E. Hume, San Francisco, newly elected president of the National Canners' Association, said here tonight.

"In addition, canned grapefruit is gradually removing one of the most common sources of domestic irritation—the squirting of grapefruit juice into the mate's eye."

FLORIDA POLICE HOLD 5 IN CONFIDENCE RING

Two of Quintet Are Wanted in $90,000 Swindle Racket.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 22.—(P)—Five alleged confidence men are being held in jail here tonight following a sudden swoop of police, a special agent of the postoffice department and a representative of the American Railway Express Company.

One of the men, giving the name of Charles G. Hockman, but who police say is Charles Greenburg, of Montreal, who is wanted in connection with the alleged victimizing of a man at St. Augustine of $40,000 in a "pay-off" racket.

Greenburg and H. Hounney, another of the men arrested, are also said to be wanted in Essex county, New Jersey, where they are accused of a $50,000 swindle.

Others arrested include W. R. Day, Charles Vogel and Louis Martin, police thought the names were aliases and their fingerprints were being checked tonight.

In connection with the arrests the police also seized a new sedan in which they found a quantity of alleged confidence game equipment, including betting orders, in the name of a "pay-off" racket.

Increases in pay rolls for 1930 have reached $283,968, John M. Scott, executive chief clerk in the office of President Whiteford R. Cole, said today.

This made the third set of jail breakers caught here since Sunday.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.
Atlanta, Jan. 22.—Spot cotton closed steady, 5 points up to 16.65; receipts 950; shipments 571; stock 95,261.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(P)—Cotton continued quiet but showed a generally steady tone again today after trading buying and covering which was probably promoted by steadiness in Liverpool and reports of a steady spot situation in the south. March contracts sold up to 17.40 and closed at 17.38 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 4 to 7 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 7 points on the showing of Liverpool with the active months showing net gains of 4 to 7 points during the first few minutes. Some trade buying as well as covering was reported, but the demand was limited and the bulk movement realized to cause setbacks of 1 to 4 points during the early trading. The market soon steadied again, however, and the best prices of the day were reached in the late trading when May sold up to 17.61 and October 7.75, or 6 to 7 points above yesterday's closing figures. The close was within a point or two of these figures.

Reports of continued cold weather in the belt attracted some attention, but failed to stimulate any general interest, and traders still appeared to be waiting developments in the spot situation or with reference to the coming acreage. According to reports published here during the day the demand for spot cotton continued, but the heavy cotton crop in the south and very little hedging was in evidence during the day.

Toward the close some trade buying was reported while there was a little more covering which appeared to be applied by the realizing of early buyers. Expectations of comparatively high figures from the census bureau in January and the fact that the market has helped the undertone of the market, but were not generally mentioned in connection with the buying. Liverpool cables were said to have been buying and covering had absorbed Bombay selling in that market and reported an increasing cloth demand from India with fair sales to Egypt and the market. Port receipts today 13,784. United States port stocks 2,498,331. Exports today 25,820, making 4,778,39 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS.
NEW ORLEANS DULL.
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—(P)—Extreme dullness featured today's session of the cotton market and the heavy cotton crop in the south was said to stifle any desire to sell on the part of the bears.

There was some activity in final selling which was attributed to a good European demand, both here and in New York. March contracts advanced to 17.24 and closed 1 point under that figure and a net gain of 4 points. The general market was steady at net advances of 3 to 10 points.

Although Liverpool cables were as expected, the market opened fairly steady. First trades showed a net gain of 1 point and prices gained a point additional after the start with a range of 17.21 and May 17.45, or points net up.

This range prevailed all through the center part of the session with only a few trades in the afternoon, which expired Saturday, showed unusual strength, advancing to 17.08, or 10 points up. Uncertainty as to the acreage for the coming season was another factor in checking the demand for trade.

Toward the close evidence of foreign demand stimulated some trade buying and active positions sold up to 5 points from yesterday's close. Final prices were at or near the best and showed a small net gain for the day.

Several Specialties Bid Up In Narrow Trading Area available at 4, but commercial paper eased a little.

A cut in the New York reserve bank rate was generally believed to hinge on the action of the Bank of England. A cut in London is believed to be imminent, but may be deferred because of the recent decline in sterling exchange on New York and Paris.

Farm Shares Buoyed.
The farm implement shares were buoyed by predictions of a larger volume of business for the coming year, and the construction and building material shares were given a boost on the basis of the widespread expectations of a steady recovery in this industry.

The recent advance in the amusement shares was inclined to peter out after realizing, although Fox Film A was set up 2 points in the afternoon. The market was generally steady, with a few gains in the late trading.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(P)—A group of farm implement, building material, tobacco and amusement shares were bid up moderately in today's stock market, but on the whole, price trends continued to vacillate with monotonous persistence. The best that could be said for the market was that it showed a first price settlement in transfers aggregated by 2,305,930 shares, a slight increase over yesterday.

Industrial and business news continued to be a mildly favorable but not particularly cheering factor. The Iron Age reported further gains in both demand and production in the steel industry during the past week, and a first price settlement in transfers aggregated by 2,305,930 shares, a slight increase over yesterday.

Loadings Show Gain.
Freight car loadings for the week ended January 11 showed a sharp gain from the previous week, due in large measure to the increase in the number of cars loaded during the week. Compared to the like weeks of the past two years, loadings showed declines of more than 40,000 cars. The crude oil production figures for last week indicated that the price cutting is having the desired effect of curtailing output. Gasoline refinery figures showed further gains in stocks, however, and the sagging of gasoline prices was reported.

Money brokers diverted themselves with further discussions as to the likelihood of a rate reduction by the New York bank rates tomorrow. There was no change in call money renewals at 4-1/2 per cent with funds later.

Advertisers

..... BY WHAT guide may the advertiser chart his course in the expenditure of his funds? By what index can he judge intrinsic values in newspaper space?

Obviously there is but one goal: RESULTS---SALES! But of what value are sales if they are secured at high cost?

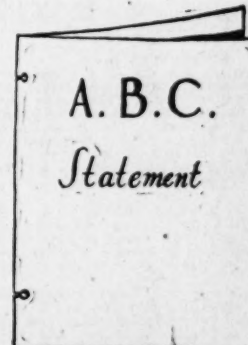

As surely as "water seeks its own level," advertisers naturally gravitate toward the newspaper which solves the problem of producing results at LOW COST. That is why figures on advertising "lineage" provide a sound basis for comparing the relative value of newspapers as advertising media.

Advertising records for the year just ended show an overwhelming "swing" to The Atlanta Constitution. A gain of 11.4 per cent---more than TWICE the gain of the second Atlanta daily. In actual lineage, The Constitution gained 772,394 lines more than the whole evening field (combining the Journal's gain and the Georgian's loss).

Act on these facts in making your newspaper selection and the results from your own advertising will verify the wisdom of your judgment.

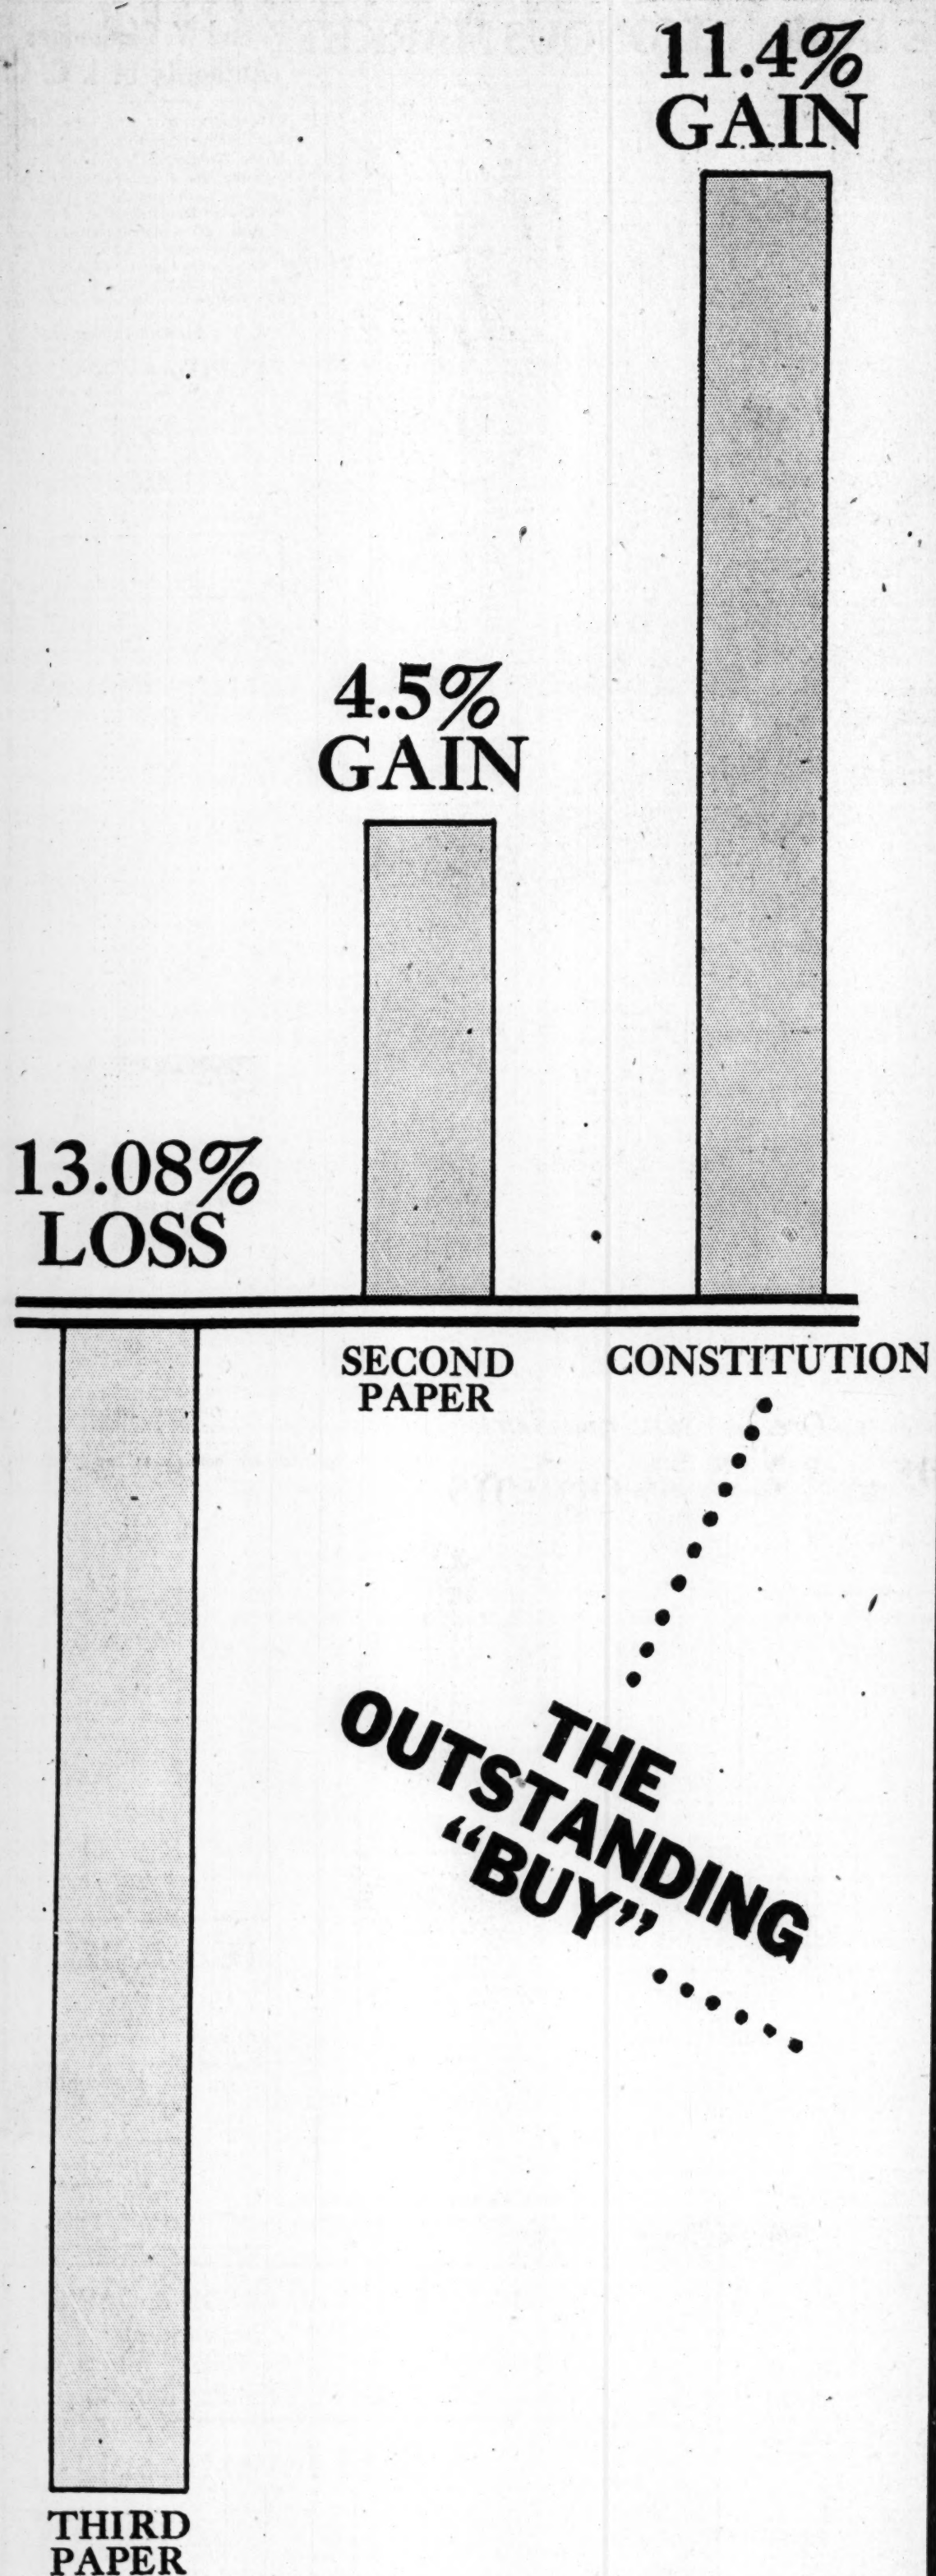

In Circulation Records, Too---

You'll find out why The Constitution is the "first" newspaper to use in selling the Atlanta market. The latest A. B. C. Statements show the wide margin existing in circulation between The Constitution and the two other Atlanta newspapers---a margin which gives Constitution advertisers a big circulation "bonus!" Atlantans Take Conspicuous Part In Productions of 'L'Arlesienne'

L'Arlesienne, the Woman from Arles, Alphonse Daudet's masterpiece, has been produced three times in the last 33 years, first at the old Broadway theater in 1897, when New York thrilled at the perfection of the production; and the middle of January in Cincinnati, Ohio, which, with one exception, is the first performance since the New York show. Atlantans figured conspicuously in both plays.

The Rev. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, was the understudy of John Keller, who played the lead in the New York play. Harry Ellerbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Ellerbe, of 1073 Juniper street, talented young actor, took the lead in the Cincinnati performance.

Back in 1897 five minutes before the initial performance of "L'Arlesienne," there was a tense moment behind the scenes at the old Broadway theater. John Keller, who was to play the lead, had not arrived. Dr. Memminger, then a student at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, was the understudy of the part. The director, Eugene Presbrey, came to him.

"Can you play this part?" "I am ready," he replied. "Go and make up." In the nick of time Keller appeared and Dr. Memminger, although he played in numbers of light musical plays before entering the ministry, never became the hero of "L'Arlesienne." Recently Dr. Memminger learned from Harry Ellerbe, who played the lead in Cincinnati, that the performance was to be produced and the privilege of supplying for the Cincinnati programs much of the historical information about the play.

The New York production of "L'Arlesienne," the story of a French peasant boy, who, seeing the celebrated woman of Arles, is completely captivated, and upon learning that his love cannot be requited, casts himself from the roof, was masterfully produced. Dr. Memminger explained in speaking of the play in the old Broadway theater. Up to that time the play was one of the most finished and magnificent produced for a New York audience. The cast was large, featuring the outstanding actors of the period. The back drop for the rural French scene was mellow and rich. The folk dances were perfect. And the full Metropolitan orchestra, under the direction of probably the greatest conductor of his time, Anton Seidl, accompanied the performance. Its failure, Dr. Memminger believes, was due to its realistic and gloomy episodes.

Wey Memorial Fund Given $129 By Atlanta Federation Clubwomen

The sum of $129, gift of the officers and chairmen of Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs to the Wey Memorial fund, and the indorsement of the move for compensation and hospitalization for sick and disabled women veterans who served overseas in the World War, proved outstanding points of the all-day session held yesterday at the Standard Club on Ponce de Leon avenue. Mrs. E. M. Helbig, student aid chairman, stated that this was in addition to the many personal donations, subscriptions by trustees, founders, student-aid committee, and contribution by the individual clubs. Mrs. S. F. Boykin, president of Atlanta federation, presided at the meeting.

Work for Blind.
Mrs. Norman Elias, co-chairman on the work for the blind, in the Fifth District Federation of Women's Clubs, introduced John Ashley Jones, who gave an interesting outline of the work done in the state of Georgia by the Association for the Blind. Miss Helen Coney Riley, director of the Atlanta music center, spoke on ways of obtaining better music, and Mrs. James R. Little, art chairman, explained the work that is being done in Georgia and other states for a higher appreciation of art.

A brilliant musical program under the direction of Mrs. Charles Hoke, music chairman, presented Mrs. L. E. Loewner, cellist, in several delightful numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Bryan, and Miss Lydia Wheeler, talented soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Hoke.

Mrs. Boykin presided over the luncheon and assisting were: Mrs. Norman Sharp, hospitality chairman, officers of the federation and past presidents as follows: Mrs. W. Woods White, Mrs. Charles J. Haden, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, Mrs. Spencer R. Atkinson, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. A. P. Coles, Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Mrs. T. T. Stevens, Mrs. Robert K. Rambo and Mrs. Norman Sharp. Dr. David Marx, offered the invocation, and Mrs. Francis C. Block, time and place chairman, was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. D. R. Nesbitt, decoration chairman. Invited as distinguished guests were: Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, Mrs. I. N. Ragsdale, John Ashley Jones, Mrs. L. O. Freeman, president of the Fifth District Federation of Women's Clubs; H. M. Atkinson, president of the Atlanta Music Center; Paul Donehoo, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, Mrs. Norman Elias, co-chairman in the Fifth District Federation of Women's Clubs, on work for the blind; Miss Helen Coney Riley, director of the Atlanta Music Center; Louis Skidmore, director of the High Art Museum and others.

"The Home-Makers' Club, of Kirkwood," Mrs. J. N. Camp, president, was welcomed into the federation. Mrs. James R. Little, art chairman in the fine arts department, was official hostess Wednesday afternoon for the lecture on "Gothic Art," which was one of a series of lectures given at High Art Museum by Louis P. Skidmore, under the auspices of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. J. S. Brogdon, chairman of fine arts, and a group of representative club women assisted Mrs. Little in dispensing the federation's cordiality on this occasion. Extensive plans are being made by Mrs. A. A. Acklin, chairman of Tallulah Falls scholarships, and committee for the mammoth benefit bridge party January 28, at the Atlanta Biltmore.

HARSH corrective measures are seldom necessary with a child! Most modern parents recognize this. That's the reason so many agree on this gentler means of putting a child in order when bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, biliousness or upset tell of a clogged digestive tract. When used at the first sign of bad breath or feverishness, a spoonful of California Fig Syrup often does the work! Sometimes several doses are necessary. Always you can depend on its use to clear the system harmlessly and in a hurry; to give the child a new start by regulating and strengthening the stomach and bowels. Mothers by thousands praise the gentle effectiveness of this rich, fruity product which all children love. Mrs. J. Manning, 657 Hansell St., Atlanta, says: "Nothing I know can take the place of California Fig Syrup in my home. It has been a blessing to my little girl during colds and upset spells. It always has her right in a jiffy." Words like these and sales of four million bottles a year show how mothers depend on California Fig Syrup. One caution. The name "California" marks the genuine, famous for 50 years.

Beauty Fashions.

A YOUTHFUL MODEL.
6407. Princess lines are featured in this pleasing model. The collar may be omitted. The sleeve is full at the wrist, above a narrow band cuff. Figured silk was used in this instance, with lace for the collar, and two-toned satin ribbon for the sash. Crepe, printed lawn, taffeta and linen are also attractive for this design. It is cut with pleasing flare fullness below the hips. The pattern is cut in three sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress for an 18-year size will require 4-5 yards of 40-inch material. The collar and sash of contrasting material will require 1-2 yard 40 inches wide. A sash of ribbon as illustrated requires 2-4 yards. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fullness extended is 3 yards. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1935-1936 Book of Fashions.

High Museum

Pupils Exhibit

At Studio Club

Decorative color experiments by pupils of the High Museum of Art, are being shown in connection with the exhibit at the Studio Club, 104 1-2 Forsyth street, under the auspices of the Beaux arts group of the club. The exhibition which features materials for interior decoration and rare objects of art, will remain open from 2 until 6 o'clock Thursday and Friday afternoons.

The decorative color experiments of the High Museum pupils demonstrate the creative faculty and the unusual technique of the students of the museum. Through its director, Lewis P. Skidmore, a graduate of L'Ecole des Beaux Arts, and an instructor of wide experience; Benjamin Shute, and Robert Rogers, both graduates of the Art Institute of Chicago, instructors in the day and night school, the institution is offering unusual advantages to students from all sections of the south and east, who are being trained not only as teachers but as artists who shall record and interpret the best in American life.

Classes are offered at the museum in lettering, still life, figure study, elementary design, composition, perspective, life drawing, painting, commercial art, and illustration. Advantages of the same instructors and classes are offered to pupils of the night school. The museum is open to the public from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 1 to 4 o'clock throughout the week; from 7 until 9 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and from 3 to 5 o'clock on Sundays.

Parties in Montezuma Honor Miss Hamilton.

MONTZUMA, Ga., Jan. 22.—Miss Martha Hamilton, whose marriage will be an event of February, continues to be honored in Montezuma, Ga. Wednesday, January 22, Miss Hamilton and Mrs. Jack Hanganbook, Jr., a recent bride who before her marriage was Miss Esther Arthur, of Outhbert, were honor guests at a bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. W. H. McKenzie, Jr., Mrs. Lyon McKenzie and Mrs. A. C. Felton III. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Claude Dykes will entertain for Miss Hamilton at a bridge-ten, and Friday afternoon she will be honor guest at a bridge-ten given by Mrs. A. C. Richardson.

MOTHER GAVE BLACK-DRAUGHT

"Fine for Constipation and Sick Headache," Writes Alabama Lady.

Huntsville, Ala.—"My mother gave Black-Draught to all the children in our home," writes Mrs. W. T. Taylor, of Sixth Avenue, this city. "It was the only medicine I knew of when I grew up. We took it in the winter (as a laxative) for colds, and whenever we ate anything that disagreed with us it gave us a course of Black-Draught."

"After I grew up, I took Black-Draught for constipation and sick headache. It surely is fine for that. 'I make a tea out of Black-Draught and take it at night, when needed. It is the best laxative I know anything about, and the only one I ever use. After a lifetime of experience I can heartily recommend it.'"

The medicine which this Alabama lady recommends is the same Thedford's Black-Draught which so many others have told of having used, all their lives, because of the good results obtained from taking it.

Get the genuine—Thedford's. No other so good—and none so economical. (Only 1 cent a dose.)

Wedding Plans of Miss Heath And Eugene Black Announced

Of cordial interest to Atlanta society are the wedding plans of Miss Susie Heath, lovely debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Heath, Sr., and Eugene Black, Jr., prominent young Atlanta man, whose engagement was recently announced. The wedding will be quietly solemnized in the presence of a few close friends and relatives at high noon Saturday, January 25, at St. Stephen's church, in Coconut Grove, a fashionable suburb of Miami, Fla. Miss Heath has chosen for her maid of honor, Miss Angel Allen, of Atlanta, and Miss Betty Black will be the junior bridesmaid, and the only other attendant. Mr. Black has chosen as his best man his brother, Grady Black, and the bride will be given in marriage by her father.

Immediately following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Heath will entertain at an elaborate wedding breakfast in Miami, after which Mr. Black and his bride will leave for a honeymoon trip to Cuba for several weeks, and upon their return they will make their home in Atlanta.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Black, Sr., will be hosts at a rehearsal dinner party in Miami, which will be attended by the group of Atlanta people who are in Miami to attend the wedding. Among the prominent Atlantans will be Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Black, Sr., parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. William L. Heath, Sr., parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dinsway, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Black, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wellborn, Miss Angel Allen, Miss Betty Black and Jack Wright, and the out-of-town guests will include Mr. and Mrs. William P. Heath, Jr., of Camden, S. C., brother and sister of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Johnson, of Birmingham, Ala., and Hollis Lanier, of Americus, Georgia.

Miss Helen Beasley Is Hostess At Dance Honoring Miss Bond

Miss Helen Beasley, one of the loveliest and most popular members of this season's debutantes, was hostess yesterday afternoon at an elaborate tea-dance, assembling several hundred members of Atlanta society at the Piedmont Driving Club, honoring her guest, Miss Ellen Bond, of Sarasota, Fla. The beautiful club was artistically decorated with palms and ferns. In the beautiful Italian Renaissance ballroom the tall white columns were entwined with smilax and vines and around the base of each were grouped tall slender palms and ferns. At the ballroom entrance on either side was an oblong table artistically decorated with tall silver vases of pink roses. Here coffee and French pastries were served by Mrs. Leon Mandeville, cousin of the hostess, and Mrs. Ernest McCullough.

Miss Beasley, Miss Ellen Bond and Mrs. Marion Kiser, sister of the hostess, received the guests before a background of palms and ferns and a number of bouquets which were sent to the popular debutante by her many friends.

Miss Beasley was gowned in an egg-shell crepe fashioned with a tight waist over which was draped a Berlin and a long circular skirt. Her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Kiser wore a lovely princess model of aquamarine blue crepe designed with a cream-colored lace yoke. Her shoulder corsage was of orchids and valley lilies.

Miss Bond was gowned in powder blue crepe fashioned along the latest lines, completing the costume was a corsage of orchids.

Miss Bond has been delightfully entertained during her stay in the city, and the nature and dates of other parties being planned in her honor will be announced later.

CHICAGO'S FINANCIAL CONDITION DESPERATE

Complete Collapse of Local Government Seen by Citizens.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The financial crisis of the city, county and school board was described today by Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens' committee as "critically desperate."

The local governments, he said following a three-day search by his committee for "a way out" are "flat broke," with no prospect of any aid from the banks. Efforts to induce substantial property owners to buy tax anticipation warrants which they could use as payment of their 1928 tax bills, also have been unsuccessful.

"Complete collapse of the local governments" is only "a matter of days" unless some means of producing cash is found, Strawn warned. Even a special session of the legislature, he said, could not get under way quickly enough to forestall the crisis. Such a procedure has been suggested as a possible remedy.

The local governments, Strawn said, are $200,000,000 in debt, and this is costing an estimated $50,000 a day in interest.

"I do not believe the public grasps as yet what a really serious situation this is," Strawn declared. "I hope that before the poor people who are in our institutions either starve or freeze to death, our citizens will come to a realization of the existing conditions and do what they can to help."

In the county no pay rolls have been met for a month. Another pay roll, due tomorrow, will not be met, officials said. In the city, the last pay day of policemen and firemen found the treasury unable to issue checks. Since January 1 no city pay roll has been paid, nor bills met. The school board is behind one pay roll and has announced it will be unable to meet the next pay roll, due Friday, when 13,000 had hoped to get salaries totaling $1,750,000.

ON MAY, 1915, THE FRENCH MADE A GREAT DRIVE TO SMASH THROUGH THE GERMAN TRENCH BARRIERS BEFORE ARRAS ON THE WESTERN FRONT. THE CAMPAIGN OPENED WITH AN ATTACK (MAY 9TH) ON THE GERMAN POSITIONS AT SOUCHEZ BY TROOPS UNDER GENERAL POCH.

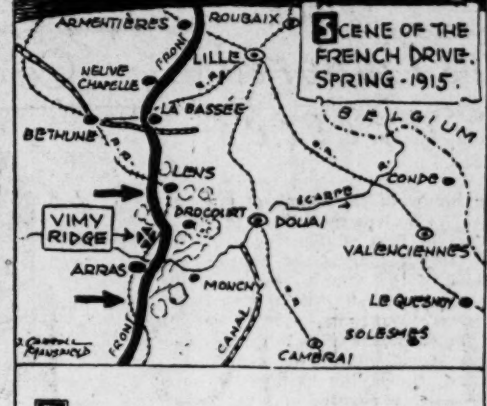

ON THE HEELS OF A TERRIFIC "BARRAGE" THE FRENCH INFANTRY ADVANCED TO THE GERMAN LINES AND A SERIES OF FIERCE STRUGGLES TOOK PLACE IN THE LABYRINTH OF TRENCHES. THE FIGHTING SPREAD ALONG THE LINE UNTIL ONE GREAT, CONTINUOUS BATTLE WAS IN PROGRESS OVER A WIDE SECTOR.

THE GERMANS STUBBORNLY CONTESTED EVERY FOOT OF THE WAY. ALL THROUGH MAY AND JUNE FIGHTING OF THE MOST DESPERATE NATURE WENT ON ALMOST WITHOUT INTERMISSION. IN THAT TIME THE FRENCH MADE A FEW SMALL GAINS, BUT AT A DREADFUL COST. BY THE MIDDLE OF JULY THE GREAT DRIVE CAME TO AN END.

REPEATED ASSAULTS HAD FAILED TO DRIVE THE GERMANS FROM VIMY RIDGE, AN IMPORTANT POSITION NORTH OF ARRAS. JOFFRE, HOWEVER, REMAINED CONVINCED THAT HE WAS PURSUING THE CORRECT TACTICS AND PLANNED AN EVEN GREATER OFFENSIVE FOR THE AUTUMN.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germs and phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.—(adv.)

Alexander P. Moore Envoy to Poland

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Alexander P. Moore, of Pennsylvania, was nominated today by President Hoover to be ambassador to Poland.

Congress just elevated the Warsaw post from a legation to an embassy. Mr. Moore was formerly ambassador to Spain and more recently to Peru. Shortly before sending the nomination of Mr. Moore to the senate, President Hoover signed the bill establishing the embassy status at Warsaw.

The change allows the payment of $17,500 salary for the new ambassador to Poland instead of the usual salary of $10,000 paid to ministers.

Wife Arrested.
HENDERSON, N. C., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. O. P. Chester, whose husband was shot and killed in their home here last Friday, was arrested today on a charge of murder. Charlie Green, a roomer in the home, was arrested soon after the shooting.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

CHATTERER MAKES A BARGAIN.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Make no bargain you may rue; Be fair to self and others too.—Old Mother Nature.

Timmy the Flying Squirrel sat in the dusk just outside the doorway of the home of Chatterer the Red Squirrel, eating corn. That corn had been left in a crotch of that tree by Chatterer, who now sat in his doorway watching Timmy eat.

"That is fine corn," said Chatterer. "Indeed it is," replied Timmy. "I wonder how it came up here in this tree."

Chatterer grinned. "I left it there for you," said he.

"Why should you leave any corn for me?" demanded Timmy suspiciously.

"Because I wanted you to taste it," replied Chatterer. "That's what I came over to your house about today. I'm sorry I woke you. I shouldn't have. You see, I was so full of a big idea that I couldn't wait."

Timmy turned those great eyes of his full on his Cousin Chatterer. You know Timmy has wonderful great black eyes. In them was something of suspicion now. "What was the big idea?" he asked.

"Would you like to have all of this good corn that you want?" asked Chatterer.

"That's a silly question," retorted Timmy. "Of course I would."

Timmy thought this over for a few minutes. He had some questions to ask. He wanted to make sure that no special danger was involved. You know, Timmy is very timid. It is because he is so timid that he is called Timmy. There is no one in all the Green Forest more timid, not even Whitefoot the Wood Mouse. Chatterer took pains to make it clear that there was no special danger.

"There is no one, excepting Black Pussy the Cat, for you to be afraid of," said Chatterer.

"I'm not afraid of Black Pussy the Cat," replied Timmy. "Black Pussy has got to be smarter than she ever has been to catch me. The ones I fear most are members of the Hawk and Owl families, chiefly the members of the Owl family."

"You needn't fear them over there," said Chatterer. "As you know, Hooty the Great Horned Owl does most of his hunting here in the Green Forest. Spooky the Screech Owl spends most of his time in the Old Orchard. Really, Cousin Timmy, you have nothing to fear."

"Don't you ever come out in daylight?" inquired Chatterer.

"Not often," replied Timmy. "I climb up in the blue, blue sky," and then only on a dull, dark day."

Chatterer sighed. "I wish you did," said he. "As it is, I suppose I'll have to get up earlier than I like to. If you will meet me tomorrow morning just at break of day, and go with me, I'll show you how you can get all the corn you want and do it without any risk. I'll do this if you will bring me a little corn each time. Is it a bargain?"

Blonde Movie Actress Seeking Divorce.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The marriage of Lorena Sowers, youthful film actress, to Fred Blosser, school-teacher, was annulled today after petition by the wife.

The actress said she married Blosser while they were attending Stanford University last summer, but that he had refused to live with her.

"He seemed to prefer books to blondes," she told the judge.

FEW ARE FAT IN THESE DAYS

Have you noted how few people are now over-fat, as compared with years ago? Slender figures are the vogue. And they have brought to millions new youth and beauty, new health and vigor.

Look about you in any crowd, and you will realize that some new factor has been found. People are not starving to reduce. They are combating the cause of obesity, which usually lies in an under-active gland. Modern science has discovered the remedy, and physicians the world over now employ it.

A famous medical laboratory embodies the method in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. So countless people now reduce in this right and easy way.

The Marmola prescription is not secret. A book in each box states the formula, and explains the results. Your own doctor would probably prescribe the same help if you asked him.

No abnormal exercise or diet. Simply take four tablets of Marmola daily until your loss of fat proves that the cause is corrected.

Try Marmola, if you need it. Do this in fairness to yourself, your family and friends. Correct this wrong condition and note the amazing results. Life will bring you many new joys when you cease to overweight. Start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Mrs. W. J. Bryan To Rest Beside Husband's Body In Arlington Cemetery

Wife of "Great Commoner" Dies in California at Home of Daughter—Always at Husband's Side.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, widow of the late democratic leader, today is joined in death with her famous husband, whose constant companion she was in victory and defeat, from that October day in 1884 when he led her to the altar and slipped onto her finger the ring inscribed "won, 1880; one 1884."

Mrs. Bryan, whom the Great Commoner called "my mental safety valve," died last night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Bryan Hargreaves, wife of a Beverly Hills (Cal.) banker. She had been suffering from arthritis for about 12 years, and her condition became suddenly worse upon her return here a short time ago from Miami, Fla., where she visited another daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, member of congress from Florida. Mrs. Bryan was 69 years old and survived her husband by four years.

Throughout the 41 years of their married life, her husband's career was Mrs. Bryan's career. They discussed everything together—men, events and every other political issue. She assisted him with his mail and read aloud to him while he chopped down trees for exercise. In order that she might share more intimately his thoughts and be of greater aid in his efforts she took up the study of law and was admitted to the bar.

The burial of Mrs. Bryan will be beside that of her husband in Arlington National cemetery, Washington, D. C., where the body will be taken following funeral services here.

With Mrs. Bryan when death came were her daughter, Mrs. Hargreaves, and a son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., Los Angeles attorney, and their families.

Announcement of plans for the burial was made following the receipt of word from Mrs. Owen in Washington, with whom Mrs. Bryan made her home most of the time since the death of her husband in 1925.

Mrs. Bryan, who before her marriage on October 8, 1884, was Mary Elizabeth Baird, of Perry, Ill., recently had completed writing a biography of her husband, which had been begun as an autobiography by the commoner.

Besides her children Mrs. Bryan is survived by three grandsons, children of William Jennings Bryan, Jr.: two granddaughters and two grandsons, children of Mrs. Hargreaves, and two granddaughters and two grandsons, children of Mrs. Owen.

Bootlegger's Feud Blamed for Slaying

CLEVELAND, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Charles S. O'Neill, 31, a chauffeur, was killed last night when five shots from a shotgun roared through the window of his home while he sat reading. Police blamed a bootlegger's feud.

O'Neill, his wife said, returned home shortly before midnight with a man known to police as George Asher. Mrs. O'Neill said Asher went into the kitchen to mix a cocktail while her husband sat down to read.

She said she heard the shots and rushed into the front room to find O'Neill's body wedged under the table. Asher had gone and $100 was missing from the dead man's pockets. Three shotgun shells were found outside the window.

Asher, police said, recently was released from the state penitentiary.

45% in weight

THEY were 1,425 little Scottish lads and lassies of school age. For eight months, under the supervision of a group of noted nutrition experts, some of them received milk during the day in addition to their regular meals; some received only biscuits; and some received nothing extra.

It was a remarkable experiment, conducted for the purpose of learning the true food value of milk in the diet; and it has furnished one of the most astounding proofs of the vital health importance of good milk.

For, the lucky children who received milk gained 23% more in height and 45% more in weight than did those who got no milk!

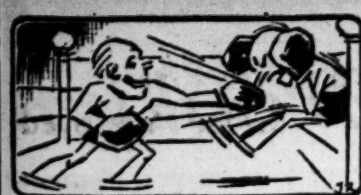

"More than that," say two famous authorities writing about the experiment, "the milk-fed group displayed the sleekness, vigor and mental alertness which characterize the well-nourished human being."

In Foremost Milk lies every one of the elements, in great abundance, that gave those Scottish children strong little arms and legs, quiet nerves, happy dispositions and keen minds. The well-fed cows that give Foremost Milk get their feed in sun-drenched meadows. All of the milk is tested for quality and purity. Doubly to safeguard your child's health against harmful germs, Foremost Milk is pasteurized as recommended by leading health authorities.

FOREMOST MILK

Al Espinosa And Horton Smith Tie For Agua Caliente Open Lead

STRIBLING KAYOES DE MAVES IN FIRST

Al Smith's famous "raddio" is the correct pronunciation according to an authority on such matters quoted in the day's news. That certainly constitutes grounds for calling off the foist election and holding another one.

THEY NEVER MISS THE SUNSHINE, ETC.

One gathers from expressions emanating from conventions where prominent educators gather that a football coach is a necessary evil. Some extremists among educators go so far as to say that he is not even necessary.

Yet one notes that when a football coach resigns or is given the pink slip and the potential halfbacks on the campus are without a teacher, the most eminent men of the faculty, often the president himself, bestir themselves mightily to get another one.

In fact, when a campus suddenly finds itself coachless, the tendency is to get a bigger and better coach, a greater and grander "evil."

NONE BUT THE GREAT.

For instance, the word comes from Auburn that the now coachless institution must have a nationally known man, one with a name that is a household word.

The president of Auburn issued a frank statement to the press to that general effect. He, happily, is one who sees good in intercollegiate football. He is not, like some college officials, still living in the Grover Cleveland administration.

Auburn patently is considering only applications from coaches who already have made a reputation for themselves in other sections.

So clear was this made that John (Red) Floyd, the former Vanderbilt star and assistant coach at Vanderbilt, who finished out the season as head coach after George Bohler was let out, not busy and signed up with The Citadel, leaving the first two posts on the coaching staff vacant for 1930.

SUGGESTION TO DEATH.

Everybody offers Auburn suggestions; in fact, an old lumens told me the other day that Auburn's athletic difficulties arose mainly from the din of free advice that was poured into the ears of those in authority.

Far be it from this column to add to the clamor that must by now have reached the intensity of feeding time at the zoo.

But I would like to point out how well some of the boys who learned their football south of the Mason and Dixon line have done with coaching. The home-bred coaches have done right well in more than one instance.

JOSH CODY'S GREAT WORK.

Look at the magnificent salvage enterprise undertaken by Josh Cody at Clemson. Clemson offers an ideal situation with which to compare Auburn, for if there ever was a great institution that sank deeper into the mire of athletic depression than Auburn it was Clemson.

For several years before Josh Cody came to Clemson to coach its teams, the Tigers had to take a vaulting pole to reach last place in the conference ranking.

Now in two seasons Josh Cody has lifted Clemson into the first flight of the conference in football and basketball and a steady development is noticed in other sports. The genial giant proved a wizard at erasing the chilly inferiority complex that seemed to assail every Clemson team when it faced a big game.

FIXTURE NOW.

It may be that no college in America has experienced such sharp upward turn in athletic fortune as has Clemson. It may take some years for those interested to realize just what great work Cody has done.

And no one imagines that Josh Cody could be taken away from Clemson for love nor money.

Clemson authorities undoubtedly realize what a remarkable coach they have picked up right at home and probably will extend his authority when a new contract is in order.

GOOD ONES IN SOUTH.

Perhaps if Auburn authorities trained their field glasses down bit they could find a genius closer home.

This is not intended as presumptuous advice. It merely is by way of pointing out that not all the good football coaches are teaching in other sections.

One of these days not far distant the north and east will be sending south for football coaches—if California does not beat them to it.

S. O. S. FOR STRIBLING.

G. R. K. Carter, millionaire sportsman and former associate of Tex Rickard, is going right on with his plans to stage a bout between Young Stribling and another outstanding heavyweight in Miami, February 22.

No doubt he is being encouraged in his efforts by the Madison Square Garden people who have a fight a week later between Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott.

The Stribling fight would be a good front for the Scott-Sharkey bout. In fact, such a fight would be almost necessary to attract neighborhood trade to Miami. Scott and Sharkey alone would not draw at all. The Garden people simply added their figures wrong in working out the heavyweight situation in Florida without considering Stribling.

WHAT A NATURAL!

If Tex Rickard were promoting fights he would have Stribling and Primo Carnera all steamed up by now as his big winter adventure. That pair would have done as well at the gate as Stribling and Sharkey a year ago.

SPEED RECORD SET.

Among the sporting events of the week, the transfer of the rock and fixtures of a Jacobs drug store into the Grant building between two sundowns deserves mention. Forepaugh and Ellis Brothers circus never did a faster set-up. The Jacobs folks entered the time of Paavo Nurmi by 6:23.

AL ESPINOSA, HORTON SMITH TIE FOR LEAD

Olin Dutra Drops to Second Place on Third Day of Play.

By Walter Hagen.

British Open Golf Champion. (Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.) AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 22.—Horton Smith, the "good boy" of international golf, who is likewise quite a good player, ought to be ready by tomorrow night to make another substantial deposit in his bank in Springfield, Mo. Horton is tied at the close of the third round of the Agua Caliente $25,000 golf tournament with Al Espinosa, of Chicago, runner-up for the national open championship, and they both should take down their share of the winnings. Their scores for three rounds total 224. The final round will be contested tomorrow.

Either Horton or Al May win the major prize of $10,000, or 20,000 pesos, if you like the sound of larger numbers. But then again they may not win, for right behind them are other good golfers, also eager to carry off the ten grand. Three very excellent golfers, Al Watrous, of Detroit, and Olin Dutra and Charles Guest, of Los Angeles, are tied for second at 225, with Johnny Farrell, former American open champion, at 226, and at 227 we find MacDonald Smith, Gene Sarazen and Mortie Dutra, of Tacoma.

Henry Clute, Ed Dudley and the American Walker cup amateur George Von Elm, have scores of 228, and Joe Kirkwood, Bobby Cruickshank and Leo Diegel are 229.

FIFTEEN "GREATS."

Thus in the first 15 players there is not one who has not long ago established himself as a great tournament golfer. It will surely be from among these 15 that the winner will be found as well as the golfers who will get most of the money. The long testing course and the high winds today gave the real hitters of the ball an opportunity to show their class and there they are at the head of the list.

It is true that a few favorites have fallen behind. Denny Shute, winner of the Los Angeles open, at 231; Johnny Golden at 232, and Joe Turnesa and myself at 233, but by and large the lead is where it belongs, and no outsider or dark horse will take much of the money away from the favorites at Caliente. Conditions were difficult today with a high wind blowing through the valley of the Tia Juana. Tia Juana translated means Aunt Jane, and if that character of Mexican folk lore had been here today he'd certainly have been blowing around her ankles. None of the present residents of Agua Caliente seem to know of Aunt Jane, but the legend connected with her, which today suggested that she might have been the first gambler of Tia Juana and sent something on the spot of Agua Caliente which was very dear to a Castilian lady.

WIND BLOWS.

The wind blew the scores way up today. The best scores for circuit were a pair of 70's by Al Espinosa and Johnny Dawson, the amateur who had the British people gasping for breath at Sandwich last spring when he almost won their amateur title. Horton Smith did a 77, taking a seven to the long eighth hole, which today was the longest golf hole I have ever played in competition. It was played in the wind and no roll to the ground. The boys were not getting tough that he took 43 for a total of 153. The wind nearly blew him off his feet. Then he did a complete round with the other boys and scored a 77 for a total of 230, and which is a real hot round tomorrow Harry may get enough of the pesos to take quite a honeymoon trip.

Although a large sum of coin is to be distributed tomorrow evening it is already very plain that most of the cash will go to those among the golfers who already have something in their wallets besides telephone numbers. It is going to be just another case of the rich getting richer and the poor poorer. When the finals are over a lot of names of tournament players with reputations will be up on top with the dollar sign and the rest of the boys will be waiting for a lift back to United States soil.

"BOX CARS."

An incident demonstrating the thoughts running through the heads of a number of the boys transpired in the casino after today's play. A group had gathered around the dice table when some one yelled "box cars." There was a scramble on the part of the boys to get aboard as they thought the "box cars" might be pulling out for Florida, but not getting on it only meant one of their number had drawn two sixes, which are referred to at the dice table as "box cars" and the house wins when they appear on the first roll.

Dempsey Seeking Card for Next Date

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey today announced plans for a new attraction to fill his date at the coliseum February 7. He was forced to cancel his 10-round match between Tony Canzoneri and Goldie Hess of Los Angeles, due to injuries to the New York lightweight sustained in his match with Jack Perg. Canzoneri received cuts over the eyes that will prevent him from boxing for a month.

Jacket Flashes Prepare for Big Season

With the southern conference track season just around the corner, the Tech trackmen are busy preparing for a big season on the cinders. Above are shown two reasons why the Jackets expect to enjoy much success on the track. Doug Graydon, one of the most promising track stars, is shown on the left, while none other than Ed Hamm, world's champion broad jumper and a stellar sprinter, is pictured on the right. The immediate object of their training is the first big indoor meet of the year, to be held at Chapel Hill next month.

JACKET TRACK PROSPECTS GOOD

Hamm's Return Boosts Tech's Stock—Boys Hard at Work.

By Herb Clark.

Competition, looming just over the hill, has Georgia Tech's track squad working out daily in the drive for condition.

The season for meets opens early this year with the Southern conference indoor meet at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, in the big leagues for a year with the Jackets, with prospects for a successful year on the cinder paths, are hard at work in an effort to get the season off to a good start by turning in a creditable record in the Chapel Hill affair.

Coach Hal Barron, Tech track mentor, dusted off the board track constructed last season and had it set up early this week. The short oval has been a boon to the Jackets in their early work, as the cinder track is in poor shape, soft and slow.

With the return to active competition of Ed Hamm, Olympic broad jump champion, sprint ace, and captain of the 1930 track squad at the Flats, Tech's track stock seems to be on the rise. The Jackets flash can be counted on to score more than his share of points in any meet, and will be ready to go this season. It will be his last in collegiate competition, and he expects to make it his best.

A number of veterans from the 1929 squad have also returned this season, though several of the stars were lost by graduation. The Jackets are expected to be somewhat weak in the field events this year, as most of the weight-tossing brigade are no longer in school.

However, the addition of a number of ex-freshman speedsters, among them Doug Graydon, Bus Weatherford, and Charlie LaForge, to the squad is expected to more than make up for the lack of strength in the field events. Strong on the track and in the javelin throw and the broad jump, the Jackets will be able to furnish real competition this year and will make a strong bid for the conference crown.

New Yorker Wins In Pinhurst Shoot

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 22.—(AP) Tracy H. Lewis, of New York, scored 136 today out of a possible 150 to win the doubles championship shoot at the twenty-third annual mid-winter target tournament of the Pinehurst Gun Club.

Mark Arlie, of Champaign, Ill., who won the introductory shoot, finished in second place with 134.

The 16-yard championship was won by C. L. Haggman, of Lakewood, N. J., who broke 197 birds out of 200.

SEWANEE, Tenn., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Major W. H. McKellar, president of the athletic board of control of the University of the South, mailed contracts today to Harvey Harmon, Haverford college coach, and Paul Scull, captain of the 1928 University of Pennsylvania eleven, following their election last night as coaches for Sewanee.

Having been informed by both men that they would accept the coaching positions if elected, Major McKellar said the Sewanee athletic officials unanimously approved Harmon to be head coach and Scull as his assistant. Harmon will come to Sewanee within a week or ten days to confer with officials, according to Major McKellar, who said it was planned for the new coaches to take charge of intercollegiate football and track at Sewanee on September 1.

Harmon will succeed W. H. Kirpatrick, who resigned from the Tiger coaching position at the end of last season.

Johnny Dobbs Plans Slugging Club For '30

Bunch of .300 Hitters, Johnny's Favorite Brand, On Parade This Summer.

By Ralph McGill.

Long before the late Teddy Roosevelt made the Big Stick popular, Mister Johnny Dobbs was at work on the same theory. John Dobbs, an old rabbit hunter around Ringgold, saw the rabbit creeping into baseball under a horseshoe cover. They couldn't fool John Dobbs. He got boys who could swing that stick.

Johnny Dobbs has announced that he is after a team of hitters for Atlanta. There may be a showcase arm or so on the club. There may be a fielder who will kick one now and then. But they will all be boys who can wield that Big Stick.

Johnny Dobbs has seven men who figure to be regulars on the Cracker club of 1930 who will hit well above .300. It would not be surprising to see Yam Yaryan signed as a catcher now that he has been released by the Barons. Xam Yaryan is so slow he has to run very fast indeed to stay in one place. Yet he can shell out rimes of a ball lot with frequency.

Johnny Dobbs has always had an outfielder or so who could not throw. Last year Clabaugh was not knocking the catchers down. Before that Elliott Bigelow was out there trying and failing to throw out runners at home. They could all take a toe hold and sock. Elliott Bigelow, who comes back to the Southern association this year with Chattanooga, stuck in the big leagues for a year with just one arm. That is he had but one so far as throwing the baseball was concerned.

"I want a team of hitters and hustlers," said Johnny Dobbs in discussing the 1930 Cracker. "I want a team that will fight for every run and every ball game. I have passed up some players I might have had because I didn't think they would fit into that plan."

Dobbs spent one year building his club at Birmingham. He was well out of the money the first year. But he didn't think they would fit into that plan.

ATHLETIC CLUB DOWNS Y, 49-29

Pat Stephens, Back in Game, Shines for Bean Quintet.

By Roy White.

With Pat Stephens back in the lineup after being absent in two games, to do the sharpshooting from all angles, the Atlanta Athletic Club basketball team gained a hard-fought, 49-29 victory over the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. team Wednesday night on the club court.

Stephens was a welcome acquisition to the A. A. C. lineup, for it was his 23 points that kept the Beany men in the lead from the very beginning. He was ably assisted by Pinkie Bynum and Cy Bell. In addition to holding down the Y forwards, Bynum found time to score three field goals and two fouls, while Bell, though not as active as in former games, scored two field goals and three fouls.

Aside from two scoring spasms on the part of the A. A. C. team, the game was fairly close. The Clubbers jumped into a 14-point lead early in the game and it was six minutes before Kenney, Y center, dropped a field goal for two points. The game then rocked along closely until the half, with A. A. C. leading, 21 to 15, at the intermission.

The Y team made things interesting in the second half and had the score 30 to 25 against them when the Clubbers took time out, renewed their attack and scored 15 points to put the game on ice while the Triangles were scoring only two field goals.

Long range field goals featured the game and the A. A. C. team was not alone in that department. Tom Medina and Nick George, former Tech stars, scored two long ones that helped the victors.

Pat Stephens and Pinkie Bynum were the outstanding stars for the A. A. C. Pat was right and every time he took aim it was two points. Virlyn Moore, Jr., of the substitutes, sank another long field goal in the minute and 45 seconds that the repairs were replaced just before the first half ended.

Tech Freshman Game Postponed Last Half Rally Fails for J. P. C.

Due to a conflict in dates, the Tech Freshmen-Darlington basketball game scheduled for Wednesday afternoon on the Tech court has been postponed until a later date. It was learned Wednesday morning that the game was definitely postponed because of another date on the Darlington schedule.

In the absence of a game Coach Fincher sent the yearlings through a long hard scrimmage that lasted well over the shades of darkness had enveloped the building. They played for the last half hour under the lights in the Tech gymnasium.

Georgia Tech freshmen will meet University of Georgia yearlings Saturday night in a preliminary game to the Tech-Georgia affair, in Athens.

5,000 PEOPLE SEE BUCKSHOT PUNCH WORK

Georgian Disposes of Blond Foe in Minute, 46 Seconds.

By Ralph McGill.

A right to the jaw that swung Jack DeMave's head around and up so that his eyes were staring at a whirl of lights, added another knockout to W. L. (Young) Stribling's record last night at the auditorium.

Jack DeMave, the blond Hollander, hung there a moment after it landed. He was twisted into a momentary, grotesque pose and then dropped as cattle drop.

He had lasted but one minute and 46 seconds against the savage attack of the Georgian heavyweight who but recently returned from a successful campaign in Europe.

STRIKES FAST.

It was as sure and as convincing a knockout as Stribling has ever scored.

If anything he was faster than before; if anything his face was more of a fighting mask than ever before; if anything that flicking left hand was swifter and deadlier.

Jack DeMave landed but one blow, a glancing one to Stribling's left side, too far below the heart to do any harm. He was out-manuevered, outsped and when Stribling had driven him around the ring with his left, he feinted his wide open with his left. The left seemed to lift DeMave's head and the right followed it swiftly and sinistraly.

The blow sounded as if he had slapped a sack of salt. DeMave's head popped around, he hung there and then dropped for the count. It was a thorough knockout.

"BUCKSHOT" PUNCH.

The blow was Stribling's famous "buckshot" punch, the one which almost dropped Sharkey at Miami and the blow that floored the giant Primo Carnera twice in Europe.

It was that blow at Miami which Sharkey said hurt him more than any blow he ever received. The right followed the left in so quickly last night that less than half the audience was able to follow the blow.

Stribling started out with a left jab. He missed one and followed with two more and a miss. They clenched and he broke Stribling's left shot out causing DeMave to fall. Even as it tilted the load of buckshot was delivered and DeMave went down, his jaw loose and his face blank.

MANAGER SOBS.

In the dressing room Lew Diamond, his manager, was sobbing. He was sobbing as fight managers sob, not with tears but with a voice that has a tear.

Lew Diamond was moaning because he believed the quick knockout would cost him his match with Primo Carnera, scheduled for New York in February.

"Why did they knock us out so soon," he moaned. "It will cost us that New York match."

Pat Stribling was immensely relieved with his knockout of DeMave, he said, "because DeMave gave us plenty of trouble in Knoxville when they fought there. I was worried until I saw that punch land."

HIS THIRD KAYO.

The knockout was the third against DeMave. Von Forst and Big Boy Roberts were the only others who had sent him down for the count until Stribling landed his "buckshot" last night.

DeMave had risen considerably in ring prestige since his New Year's fight with Les Kenney in California. He lost the decision but it was a close one and Kenney had a victory over K. O. Christner.

It was a great fight card that ended with Stribling's knockout of DeMave. Max Abelson put on a show which pleased some five thousand or more fight fans. It was the best Continued on Second Sport Page.

What They Said After the Bout At Auditorium

PA STRIBLING, manager of Young Stribling—"I never saw W. L. hit so hard with his right hand except in his fight with Carnera in Paris. W. L. was finding fine and in high spirits over the prospects of a fight in Miami next month and wanted to make a good impression on the crowd. It was a tough break for De Mave. The last time we fought him, he gave us the hardest sort of fight."

LEW DIAMOND, manager of De Mave—"That lick cost us a fight with Carnera in New York, February 6. Harry Mendel offered Abelson $1,500 to release us from the contract here. It was a tough break for De Mave. And say, if this Stribling can't hit harder than any heavyweight in the ring today you can see me. What would I give to handle that boy just one year."

GUY DOBBS, chairman of the Atlanta Boxing Commission—"It was a fine fight card and every bout was honestly fought. Stribling went right after De Mave and made no effort to carry him along. He hit De Mave a terrific punch the first opening he got. The fine house indicates the great popularity into which the boxing game has come in Atlanta."

Indoor Track Muddle Discloses "Phantom College" in Brooklyn

A. A. U. HEADS EVADE ISSUE, DROP PROBE

Fans and Newspapers
Misled by Promoters, Discover Hoax.

By Frank Getty,
United News Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(United News.)—The Amateur Athletic Union of the United States sidestepped tonight one of the most contentious problems presented for its jurisdiction in many a day.

What seemed to be a "phantom college" which has been conducting indoor track and field games for the past 10 years, was disclosed by newspapers, who were puzzled over the regrettable incidents arising from the appearance here last Saturday night of Jack Elder, Notre Dame sprinter and football star.

Advertised to appear in the "Brooklyn college games" in an "Olympic sprint series" against Karl Wildermuth, Jimmy Daley and other stars, Elder ran in only two special events, much to the disappointment of some 8,000 track fans, who had paid their money largely on the promise of seeing the hero of last November's Army-Notre Dame game in action.

INDIGNATION.
When it developed that the promoters of the games had misled the cash customers regarding Elder's intentions and performances, quite an outcry arose.

The registration committee of the Metropolitan association of the A. A. U. had no choice but to conduct an investigation. They did so tonight only to postpone action when they found powerful influences were at work in support of the offenders.

One point which was brought out, however, was that there is no "Brooklyn college," nor has there been any such institution since 1919.

Furthermore, despite vigorous denials, the so-called Brooklyn College of A. A., whose head is James Kelly, brother of Joseph Kelly, prominent in A. A. U. circles, definitely had advertised Jack Elder's appearance in the "Olympic sprint series" and had gone further, even to the extent of proclaiming that this was to be the Notre Dame runner's only appearance in the east this winter.

SIGNED.
At the time when the officials were making this announcement, Elder already had signed to run in four other indoor meets this winter.

Joseph Kelly, as has been said, has influence in A. A. U. circles, and the investigation which took place tonight proved a dud. The promoters maintained that the newspapers had misrepresented conditions, whereas publicity matter sent out by the officials advertised Elder's appearance in the "Olympic sprint series" and this was never retracted.

audience of the year and the fight card was uniformly good, the semi-final, which saw Jack Tunney, of Birmingham, beat Mike Firpo, of Havana, being one of the best fights Atlanta has seen at the auditorium.

PILES UP LEAD.
Tunney piled up a lead each round, boxing Firpo open and pounding him with rights and lefts time after time in each round. In the sixth round, he almost had the Cuban out. A flurry of rights and lefts to the head and jaw as the round closed left the Havana light-heavyweight dazed and stumbling toward the wrong corner after the bell.

After that Firpo came back with more strength. He took a terrible beating but he earned the great hand he got. His toughest fight gameness under fire was rather remarkable.

The preliminary bouts were uniformly good. In the first one Brown Walker lost to O'Brien by a knockout in the second round.

SOLDIER WINS.
Soldier Sumner, of Fort McPherson, won the crowd by his gameness and his clowning under fire. He scored a technical knockout, battling Tat's seconds tossing in the towel when the bell rang for the fourth round. Tat was in distress in the second and third rounds.

Hayley Barker, another Fort Macpherson pugilist, showed that the army can yet fight, when he knocked out Kayo Flash, of Dayton, Ohio, in the second round.

Carl Knowles, of Rome, who had strung together some 18 consecutive knockouts, fought to a draw with Claude Pittman, of Atlanta. Knowles forced the fighting at the way. Pittman evidently holding the Rome boy's right in respect. He stayed carefully away, mixing only when it seemed safe.

A battle royal completed the card. It went on just before the main event.

Uch, That Hurt!

Romero Rojas Gave Johnny Risko the Hardest Wallop in His Career.

By Johnny Risko.
(Copyright, 1930, by The North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Romero Rojas, the guy from South America who knocked out Jack Sharkey, gave me the meanest wallop of my career so far. That was in a 12-round fight at Cleveland November 28, 1924.

I had boxed 54 amateur matches around Cleveland. It was a side line with me. My regular work was kneading dough in a bakery. Danny Dunn had me in hand. He said I was fat and kept me busy. A lot of people laughed every time Danny told 'em I was a fighter.

I had knocked out so many boxes in the amateurs that the crowd I turned against me, just as most fight crowds do. They began pulling for Old Man Risko's son to get his black knockout off I always managed to forget the customers when I heard the bell ring. That's why I was not mesmerized into sticking out my chin just to give somebody a chance to rough.

Romero was then in his glory, and looked like another Firpo. He last year, is a team player. So is Ivy Griffin, at first base.

They are all sure 300 hitters, who should go well above that average this year. He was ill and hurt for a part of last season and yet was a dangerous batter all the way.

There isn't a bad arm in the lot unless Ivy Griffin should have a recurrence of an old injury. All of which is unlikely. They are all veterans but the youngsters who can outspeed them fielding will throw in a lot of waste motion that dissipates the effects of their speed. Dobbs has, unless misfortune intervenes, the best infield he has ever had.

Ed Brown, the outfielder from Toledo, admittedly has an arm that is not as strong as it once was. He can hit that baseball better than 330 and is being ballhooped as a 350 hitter. And even the strong arm don't throw out more than two or three at home plate per season. Elton Langford, the recent addition from Shreveport, batted .333 last season, and there is no logical reason why he should not do that well or better as a Cracker. His arm is in good shape. If Bob Farham comes back Dobbs is a seldom shot to make a good outfielder of him. And that boy has a real arm.

HAWKEY TIPPED AS NEW COACH AT MINNESOTA

Former Dartmouth Mentor Would Succeed Resigned Doctor Spears.

By L. S. Cameron.

United News Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(United News.)—The college football coaches' swapping season, now well under way, promises to continue into the summer months.

The latest development is the rumor that Jess Hawley, former Dartmouth mentor, will accept the head coaching position at the University of Minnesota.

Hawley's intimates have discounted this rumor because Hawley, after quitting a worth-while berth at Hanover, N. H., has become one of Chicago's more astute businessmen. It was to take better care of his business that Hawley left Dartmouth.

Minnesota lost its coach when Dr. Clarence W. Spears resigned to accept a like position with the University of Oregon.

PRESSURE.
The former Oregon coach, Captain John J. McEwan, resigned under pressure of demands from his school. He was charged by Captain McEwan had made motion picture photographs of the Stanford team in action and had supplied them to the Army team shortly before the Army-Stanford game.

Captain McEwan denied the charge but resigned on condition that he receive his salary for the 1930 season in accordance with a contract he held. Dr. Spears is the third Western conference coach to move to the far coast. Howard Jones was the first. He left Iowa in 1923 to coach the University of Southern California.

Earlier in this coach-swapping "season" Jimmy Phelan, who coached Purdue to its first Western conference football championship in 1929, signed a contract with the University of Washington.

Phelan succeeds Epoch Bagshaw, whose scalp long had been sought by students and "downtown coaches" at Seattle. Noble Kizer succeeds Phelan at Purdue.

TRIO.
Three schools have seen their coaches resign to accept athletic directorial positions. They are: Penn—Lon Young resigned to become a member of the athletic board of control. He was succeeded by Lud Wray, former line coach.

Penn State—Hugo Bezdek resigned to head a new school of physical education at State college. A successor has not been named.

Holy Cross—Cleo A. O'Donnell quit as coach to become athletic director. His successor has not been named.

One of the most recent changes brought the retirement of William A. Wood, at Wesleyan University. A. (Sewie) Oberlander, former Dartmouth star and recently assistant coach at Ohio State, was signed as his successor.

Court To Decide On Ring Forfeit

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 22.—(P)

William H. Hanlon, chairman of the California boxing commission, said he could not obey an order of the Illinois state athletic commission that a $10,000 forfeit posted by Mickey Walker, middleweight boxing champion, be given to the Shrine hospital.

Walker posted the money as a guarantee that he would risk his title by last September, when the Illinois commission permitted him to go out of his class to meet Tommy Louhran for the light-heavyweight title here last March. Walker's manager, Jack Kearns, has a temporary injunction to prevent the money being paid.

Hanlon said the disposition of the money was solely up to the California supreme court, which has the matter of awarding the cash on its docket. The court does not convene until 30 days hence and until that time Hanlon intends to keep possession of the money.

New Sensation.

Indiana Butler, with a victory over the strong Butler University five, is the latest basketball sensation of the middle west.

BASEBALL NOTES

Bing Miller, whose bat brought the 1929 world series to a finish, took up boxing when he was with the A. E. F. over in France in 1918, but, unlike Gene Tunney and others who adapted that sport as a professional, Bing forgot all about it and, despite the fact he was the champion heavyweight of his division, he went back to the diamond instead of the ring.

Low Fonseca, Cleveland, first baseman, who led the American league in batting in '29, had four big days during the last campaign. Early in the season he made four hits in four times up and stole three bases in addition. Later on he drove in four runs late in a game to beat Detroit, 8 to 4, made a triple and home run off Al Thomas and a home run and triple off Grady Adkins in four consecutive times at bat, and then, a month later, drove in seven runs in a game with two singles and a home run.

Whether or not they will be able to hit big league pitching is not known, but Cleveland has upon its roster two youngsters who fielded sensationally in the minors last year. They are Jonah Goldman, of Albany, and Cecil Stewart, of Shreveport. Goldman took part in 127 double plays in the Eastern league, while Stewart batted in the Texas league with 133 double plays.

Low Gear Wins In Racing Debut

Whitney Entries Clean Up on Fair Grounds Card.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(P)—The Freshman and Low Gear, both making their winter debut, showed flashes of their 1929 form today as they won the twin feature races over a fast track at Hialeah park.

The Freshman, carrying the colors of R. McKeever and with Jockey Kurlinger in the saddle, won the Opa Locka claiming stake at a mile and a sixteenth. Low Gear, in the silks of A. W. Wentzel, accounted for the Country Club Estates, which brought out six older horses for a jaunt of a mile and 70 yards.

In winning Low Gear not only carried the low weight of 122 pounds but overcame interference to defeat George D. Widener's Nearby by a half length. Nearby was made the odds-on favorite but got away to a poor start. Herdman ran third. Low Gear paid 5 to 1, while the Freshman was quoted at 3 to 1.

With the apprentice jockeys, Kenneth Russell and Verlyn Smith up, Harry Payne Whitney carried off the major honors at the fairgrounds. Russell rode Niato home first in the Loew's January festival purse with the flying hoofs and received only a shaking up.

Filly Breaks Neck In Fall on Track

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—(P)

Sport Dress, filly owned by George Collins, Kentucky steel magnate, running in the last race at the fair grounds today, stumbled in the stretch and broke its neck, dying immediately.

Robert Cramer, 18, jockey, was thrown but suffered only a cut lip. The horse was valued at $2,500.

of six furlongs for three-year-olds. The Whitney entry paid only $4.90 to win, $2.40 to place and $2.70 to show.

A muddy track cut the starting field in the fourth race to three horses. The Walbri farms' Strongheart showed the way home over the mile and sixteenth test to Inception and War Instigator. The time was 1:51 2-5, with the winner paying $8.40 for a $2 investment.

Havana offered the Camp Columbia claiming sprint for a high grade of players as the chief attraction of its six-race program. The winner once again was H. C. Hatch's consistent Campanini. It was the third consecutive victory for the Hatch standardbearer in as many starts. Miss E. Kelly's Orestes 2d finished second with Androsito third. Jockey Dougherty narrowly escaped serious injury when he was thrown from Mart Malone as the field swung into the stretch. The jockey, however, evaded the flying hoofs and received only a shaking up.

Polo Rules Stand Without Change

Move To Shorten Length of Game Disregarded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(P)—The United States Polo Association met in its annual session today and adjourned without announcing any radical changes in the rules or handicaps of players.

Although the change in the rules, which would shorten the game from eight to six chukkers, was discussed, no official announcement was made. The proposed rule to cut the time of the game was presented by a committee headed by Devereux Milburn. It adopted the plan would shorten the playing time by 15 minutes.

Official rating of the players also was deferred. There was no indication, however, of any wide variation of the 1929 handicaps. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., with a handicap of 10, again is expected to top the American players, with Winston Guest second. Guest has a handicap of nine goals.

The entire slate of officers, headed by Chairman Louis E. Stoddard, was re-elected.

Good Average.

In 11 years of coaching at Lafayette and Pitt the teams of Jack Sutcliffe have won 75 games.

Boys' High Cards Night Football Game With Knoxville

PURPLE PLAYS T. H. S. ELEVEN NOVEMBER 11

Nine Games on Schedule for 1936, Announced Wednesday.

By Roy White.

Nine games, including a night affair with Central High in Knoxville, Tenn., appear on the 1936 football schedule of Boys' High, which was released Wednesday afternoon. The night game will be played October 24 on Shields-Watkins field in Knoxville, where the famous touchdown twins of the University of Tennessee performed last season.

Tech High, an ancient rival of Boys' High, will be played November 11 as a feature of Armistice Day in Atlanta. Darlington High will open the season September 27 at Spiller field and Sidney Lanier, of Montgomery, will close the year with Boys' High in Montgomery.

Paul Rosser, athletic director of Boys' High, stated Wednesday night that there will be no changes in the coaching staff of the Purple Hurricane next year. R. L. "Shorty" Doyal, former Georgia Tech linebacker, of the famous team of 1917, will again head the staff and will be assisted by members of the faculty. He will also have charge of the Boys' High basketball team this spring.

The Purple Hurricane enjoyed one of its most successful seasons in 1929 and lost only one game and that was in the playoff for the northern division title of the G. I. A. A. The Hurricane lost to Madison A. & M., which in turn lost the G. I. A. A. title to G. M. C.

Coch Doyal had more candidates at September than he knew what to do with and after a brief training period, four teams were organized and retained throughout the season. He and numerous linemen and backfield candidates.

A large number of the Boys' High players will graduate in June and Coach Doyal has sounded a call for spring football practice, one week from next Tuesday. Six weeks will be devoted to spring work and negotiations are under way for a spring game between Tech High and Boys' High. Only about six or seven players from the city prep championship Boys' High team will be returned next September.

Five of the nine games will be played at Spiller's and four will be in foreign soil, McCallie, in Chattanooga; Savannah, in Savannah; Central High, in Knoxville; and Sidney Lanier, in Montgomery, are the foreign games.

The complete schedule follows:
September 27—Darlington at Spiller's.
October 4—McCallie at Chattanooga.
October 11—Savannah at Savannah.
October 18—Lanier High at Spiller's.
October 24—Central High at Knoxville.
October 31—University School at Spiller's.
November 11—Tech High at Spiller's.
November 18—G. M. C. at Spiller's.
November 27—Sidney Lanier at Montgomery.

Semi-Windup.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Irish Jack Pilkington, of New York, will meet Tony Herrera, Fort Worth, Tex., lightweight, in the 8-round semi-windup on the Jackie Fields-Vince Dundee boxing card at the stadium Friday night.

Shires' Troubles Are Near an End

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The case of organized baseball, the White Sox in particular, against Charles Arthur "The Great" Shires neared conclusion today. The punch-throwing White Sox first baseman, who has already succeeded to Commissioner K. M. Landis' demand that he quit the professional ring and get into shape for baseball, conferred secretly with Donie Bush, new White Sox manager, yesterday and from the smiles that wreathed their faces it looked like both had come to an agreement.

Shires is expected to have his suspension, levied because of his fist fight with former Manager Russell "Lena" Blackburne last season, lifted and receive his 1930 contract this week.

"Bush and I will get along 100 per cent," Shires said after the conference.

"Shires is a fine boy and I'm sure we're going to get along famously and win some ball games this summer," Manager Bush said.

PETRELS START WORK MONDAY

Coach Robertson Plans
Hard Practice for Oglethorpe Eleven.

Spring practice at Oglethorpe University, long delayed, will get under way on Hermance Field Monday afternoon, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Coach Harry Robertson.

The work has been put off on a proposition which reads a great deal like that old story which starts "For want of a nail, the horse was lost" and continues to relate just what was missing to make things perfect.

Out on Peachtree road, it is the want of a captain which has postponed the grid work. And it is the want of a banquet which leaves the Petrels without a leader. And it is the want of varsity sweaters which has put the banquet off on the calendar.

Harry Robertson likes to present the varsity awards at the annual football banquet, and when they did not arrive on time this year the banquet was postponed. And captains must be elected at the banquet. And Harry wants to let his charges go through spring practice under a new leader.

Now the sweaters have come; the banquet is set for early next week; and the captain will be elected shortly.

Robertson said Wednesday that the work would get under way Monday, and promised that it would be a real grind. He did not state just how long the practice period would last this year, but intimated that he would keep the squad out until they had derived benefit from the grind.

The replacement problem means the filling of but six pairs of shoes at Oglethorpe before next fall, but the caliber of the boys who graduate is expected to make the task a difficult one.

Losing Asa Wall, tackle; Jeff Buford, center; and Cy Bell, Lyman Fox, and Captain Charlie McLaughlin, all halfbacks, from his 1929 varsity squad, Robertson will be forced to seek a pleiad of scrying about if the 1930 squad is to be as strong as its predecessor.

A fairly strong reserve team and a good freshman eleven are expected to provide the needed material for the coming varsity squad.

SMITHY FIVE AND BOYS' HIGH CLASH FRIDAY

Russell High-Marist Game Postponed Due to Examinations.

Tech High and Boys' High will start their annual athletic feud Friday night at 8 o'clock on the Henry Grady court instead of this afternoon as was originally planned. Coaches Dave Johnston and Claude Tolbert held a conference Thursday morning and decided to play the game Friday night, leaving today an off day for all the city prep league teams.

Examination time hit Russell High school in East Point Wednesday and the basketball game between Marist and Russell, scheduled for the Marist court has been indefinitely postponed. The game will probably be played one afternoon next week, Coach Bean said Wednesday.

G. M. A. and Marist are scheduled to play Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Marist court, giving prep league fans ample opportunity to witness two of the best games during the week-end.

Saturday will be an off day for local teams here but Tech High and Boys' High will have plenty of opposition on foreign courts. Tech High will play Lanier High in Macon and Boys' High will journey to Chattanooga to play McCallie High Saturday night.

Boys' High eked out a victory over Lanier last Saturday night and the Poets are after a defeat of Tech High, another of Atlanta's best prep quintets. Several changes have been made in the Lanier game since last week and they are all set for the Smithies Saturday night.

Coach Johnston seemed pleased with the showing of his Purple Hurricane during the games last week but the team did not look so hot Tuesday afternoon against G. M. A. on the College Park court. Katz, Purple forward, was completely stopped and Tom Bothwell and Stacy did not play any too well. Gatlin and Captain Statton carried the brunt of the burden and went out over the Cadets in the last few minutes of play.

Tech High and Boys' High should put up another of their famous grudge battles. Tech High beat the Cadets two points and Boys' High won by a five-point margin. That gives Boys' High a three-point edge in comparison of scores from games played at G. M. A. but the entire Tech High team figured in the scoring while the Boys' High field goals were centered about two players.

Wrestling Meet.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The third annual national collegiate wrestling meet will be held at Penn State College next March 28 and 29. George M. Trautman, secretary of the wrestling rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association announced today.

Fitzsimmons needed plenty of help to get into the saddle, and while the race was on he hardly could stay in the saddle. In spite of it the young jockey came home lengths in front. When he was able to walk he went around looking for the man who owed him the $100. That was about 47 years ago. He hasn't found him yet. It seems that there were dishonest persons and false promises on the turf of those days.

Fitzsimmons was associated entirely with the peasantry of the horse world until he joined the Quincy stables of James Johnson. Then he began to handle the real kings of the turf. It was a different atmosphere from the Frypan circuit. It was with the Quincy stables that Fitzsimmons showed his craft as a trainer.

Toddy, the greatest, among them Diavolo, of the Wheatley stables of Ogden Mills and Mrs. Henry C. Phipps. He has saddled the winner of the Dixie, the Saratoga Handicap, the Saratoga Gold Cup, the Jockey Club Gold Cup, the Bowie Handicap and the Pimlico Gold Cup. Diavolo, of course, is the apple of the trainer's eye, the champion distance horse, all power, speed and stamina, a real king of the turf.

But to those who know him well Fitzsimmons talks constantly of a hen named Spangled. "Oh, well, he was the gamest horse I knew," Fitzsimmons will say when he feels that he is getting a little too glibly or reminiscent concerning the beloved Star Spangled.

In spite of his uncanny judgment of horses, Fitzsimmons is not a heavy better. When the veteran trainer makes a $20 bet there is gossip around the track that Fitzsimmons is saddling a "sure thing," and when Fitzsimmons is sure of a horse it is, as they say, the surest thing there is.

"But," Fitzsimmons will tell you, "there are 150 ways in which a horse race can be lost honestly. He can sit down and enumerate them, too. Once in the off season when we were having waffles in the kitchen of Fitzsimmons at the home track, he reeled off 99 of them. They called him to the stables before he had time to finish. Nobody wanted to hear them all. It was too discouraging for optimists in the matter of winning bets around race tracks.

The Tale of a Whip.
They say that Fitzsimmons talks horse language, or that if he does not, he understands more of equine dialect than any man who ever was associated with horsemanship. "I wish I did," said Fitzsimmons. "They have more intelligence than many of the men who try to handle them. If they only could put it into words."

"All that I can do is to try to understand them. I can understand a little—and that helps considerably. Yet I only have a short time with them, and it is hard to find out what hurts their feelings and what they like best. No two horses are alike any more than men are alike."

As a jockey Fitzsimmons was particularly sparing of the whip. There is the story of his ride on King Idol, which has long since gone to the happy grazing grounds. Fitzsimmons rode him in a race in which Johnny Tabor was riding the favorite.

Neck and Neck.
On the turn Tabor lost his whip. He was riding along neck and neck with King Idol with Fitzsimmons up. Tabor was out of temper. "I dropped my whip," he shouted across at Fitzsimmons. "If I had a whip I'd beat you."

"Take mine," said Fitzsimmons. "I don't need it." And he handed it across. King Idol was beaten by a neck.

It looked not so good for Fitzsimmons. "But," as he explained later, "if I had touched the King with a whip he would have stopped dead. He was that way. And the other horse, I know, also sukked under a lash. If Tabor had not have used the whip he would have beaten me lengths. As it was, I almost beat him when I shouldn't. Lending that whip was no favor."

(This is the twenty-second of a series of columns by Mr. McGeehan on outstanding figures of sports history.)

An Expert on Horses.

Last season horses trained by him won something like $239,000 in stakes for his employees. Today he stands foremost among the living trainers, and, in addition, has an enviable reputation for frankness as well as knowledge of the thoroughbred, two things which do not go always together. To man and beast he is known as Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, particularly with the latter, which is more important in his business.

He was born in a horse atmosphere, having wandered around the fields where the Sheephead Bay race track used to stand when he was a toddler. He could ride almost before he could walk, and at the age of 16 was ready to stake his future on the horse's hooves. Today he has charge of something like $2,000,000 worth of thoroughbred horseflesh. It was not always that way.

At the age of 16 Fitzsimmons was riding the type of race horse known as "skinners" on the half-mile tracks for an outfit known as the Dwyer Brothers. They operated on the outlaw half-mile tracks on what was known colloquially as the "Frying Pan Circuit." Rations were scarce and purses were scarce. Young Fitzsimmons doubled, or rather trebled as trainer, jockey and cook. He boasts that he used to wield a very mean skillet and that in one day on this circuit he rode five winners. But that was the big day. The life mainly was filled with small days.

Fair Success.

For a while he rode for the Dwyers at Brighton, but his mounts were largely selling players. He had success at this work, but the jockey's meanness crowded him. He started to accumulate avoidances—not a great deal—for Fitzsimmons today is a trim little man, but with jockeys the ounces count and young Fitzsimmons began to settling down to the business of training the horses and letting his lighter brethren attend to the riding. He always had a way with the horses.

His last ride entailed no little physical and mental anguish. He was offered the unheard of (in those days) sum of $100 to ride a pater with a good chance. He was 15 pounds overweight but he needed the $100. Bundling up in flannels he tried road work and lost a few pounds. Then he got an inspiration. There was a brick kiln near the track, and after his road work Fitzsimmons curled in on the hot bricks.

That inferno did the work. Trying the scales, the young man who needed the $100 badly enough to suffer the tortures of a stage beauty in reducing, found that he was well under weight but that he was weak that he hardly could stand. He remembered that he had a little whisky in his locker and felt that this would carry him through the race.

Slipping to the locker, the feeble jockey tilted the flask to his lips and took a healthy swig. Then he tottered back. The flask contained nothing stronger than cold tea. His brother Pat had been to the locker before him, and after helping himself had put the inadequate substitute in the flask so that the original contents would not be missed.

Fitzsimmons needed plenty of help to get into the saddle, and while the race was on he hardly could stay in the saddle. In spite of it the young jockey came home lengths in front. When he was able to walk he went around looking for the man who owed him the $100. That was about 47 years ago. He hasn't found him yet. It seems that there were dishonest persons and false promises on the turf of those days.

A Track Philosopher.

Fitzsimmons was associated entirely with the peasantry of the horse world until he joined the Quincy stables of James Johnson. Then he began to handle the real kings of the turf. It was a different atmosphere from the Frypan circuit. It was with the Quincy stables that Fitzsimmons showed his craft as a trainer.

Toddy, the greatest, among them Diavolo, of the Wheatley stables of Ogden Mills and Mrs. Henry C. Phipps. He has saddled the winner of the Dixie, the Saratoga Handicap, the Saratoga Gold Cup, the Jockey Club Gold Cup, the Bowie Handicap and the Pimlico Gold Cup. Diavolo, of course, is the apple of the trainer's eye, the champion distance horse, all power, speed and stamina, a real king of the turf.

But to those who know him well Fitzsimmons talks constantly of a hen named Spangled. "Oh, well, he was the gamest horse I knew," Fitzsimmons will say when he feels that he is getting a little too glibly or reminiscent concerning the beloved Star Spangled.

In spite of his uncanny judgment of horses, Fitzsimmons is not a heavy better. When the veteran trainer makes a $20 bet there is gossip around the track that Fitzsimmons is saddling a "sure thing," and when Fitzsimmons is sure of a horse it is, as they say, the surest thing there is.

"But," Fitzsimmons will tell you, "there are 150 ways in which a horse race can be lost honestly. He can sit down and enumerate them, too. Once in the off season when we were having waffles in the kitchen of Fitzsimmons at the home track, he reeled off 99 of them. They called him to the stables before he had time to finish. Nobody wanted to hear them all. It was too discouraging for optimists in the matter of winning bets around race tracks.

The Tale of a Whip.
They say that Fitzsimmons talks horse language, or that if he does not, he understands more of equine dialect than any man who ever was associated with horsemanship. "I wish I did," said Fitzsimmons. "They have more intelligence than many of the men who try to handle them. If they only could put it into words."

"All that I can do is to try to understand them. I can understand a little—and that helps considerably. Yet I only have a short time with them, and it is hard to find out what hurts their feelings and what they like best. No two horses are alike any more than men are alike."

As a jockey Fitzsimmons was particularly sparing of the whip. There is the story of his ride on King Idol, which has long since gone to the happy grazing grounds. Fitzsimmons rode him in a race in which Johnny Tabor was riding the favorite.

Neck and Neck.
On the turn Tabor lost his whip. He was riding along neck and neck with King Idol with Fitzsimmons up. Tabor was out of temper. "I dropped my whip," he shouted across at Fitzsimmons. "If I had a whip I'd beat you."

"Take mine," said Fitzsimmons. "I don't need it." And he handed it across. King Idol was beaten by a neck.

It looked not so good for Fitzsimmons. "But," as he explained later, "if I had touched the King with a whip he would have stopped dead. He was that way. And the other horse, I know, also sukked under a lash. If Tabor had not have used the whip he would have beaten me lengths. As it was, I almost beat him when I shouldn't. Lending that whip was no favor."

(Mr. McGeehan's column in tomorrow's paper will be on Jack Dempsey.)

Jamaica Racing Blanks Issued

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Once again featuring the $10,000 added Wood memorial stake for 3-year-olds, entry blanks for the spring meeting of the Metropolitan Jockey Club meeting at Jamaica have been issued.

The date for the closing of entries for the scheduled events is fixed for February 17.

Jamaica will open the metropolitan racing season Monday, April 21, with a 21-day meeting. As in previous years, the Paumonok six furlongs for 3-year-olds and upwards, will feature the track's inaugural day. It has $5,000 added value. With its added value, the Wood memorial will have an estimated gross value of $14,000. The youthful stakes with $5,000 added again tops the 2-year-old stake events.

Umpire Elected.

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Bob Hart, a National league umpire, tonight was elected a city assessor for a two-year term by the city council. He will assume his duties tomorrow.

BULLDOGS PREP FOR TECH GAME IN CLASSIC CITY

Second Battle of Series Keeps Georgia Court-men Busy.

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 22.—The University of Georgia basketball team renewed practice today in preparation for the second game of the three-game series with Georgia Tech. The first of these three important games was played last week in Atlanta and resulted in a close victory for the Georgia players by a 26-to-23 score.

This game marked the second conference victory for the Georgia team without a defeat, the other win being an overtime victory over the University of Florida in Gainesville, Fla., by a 35-to-34 score. Both games were won in the last three minutes of play after trailing in the score up to that point.

The only game on the schedule this week is the second Georgia Tech game, which will be played in Athens on Saturday the 24th. The third game with these important rivals will close the basketball season on February 22.

FOLLOWING THE Georgia Tech game this week, the Georgia players will be kept busy with plenty of hard competition both at home and away. The team will travel to Auburn on January 29, and then return home to meet the University of Kentucky in Athens on February 1.

The following week North Carolina State, present conference champions, will play in Athens on February 4. The following night Clemson will be met in Clemson, and the Atlanta Athletic Club will finish the strenuous week on Saturday, February 8.

The following week two games will be played away from home, Kentucky and the Atlanta Athletic Club will both be met on their home courts. During the last week of the year Clemson and Mercer will appear in Athens, and the season will end with the third Georgia Tech-Georgia game in Atlanta. The team will then participate in the Southern conference basketball tournament in Atlanta beginning on February 28.

"CATFISH" IMPROVES.
Vernon Smith, outstanding football player on the football team last fall has about cinched the center position on this winter's team. Smith has been showing increased proficiency in the indoor game and the end of the season should find him a valuable player.

Sandy Sanford, last year's center, and Captain Henry Palmer have been handling the two forward positions and both have been showing good form. Captain Palmer has been high scorer in practically every game played so far.

Joe Martin and Kankakee Anderson, veteran guards, have been back in their old positions, with Tommy Reeder, substitute guards last year giving them relief in practically every game.

The forward substitutes are Moran and Terrell, both sophomores, Moran being a Lanier high school teammate of Vernon Smith, while Terrell hails from Tech High school of Atlanta. Strickland has been substituting for Smith at center, while Bryant, from Braselton high school, is a reserve guard.

This gives the Georgia team an all-Georgia roster, every member having played on some high school team from within the state of Georgia. Captain Palmer at present hails from Cheyenne, Wyo., but spent his high school days in the state of Georgia.

To Aid Hurlers.
Grover Cleveland Alexander, recently taken back by the Phillies, will act as coach of the young pitchers as well as hurl himself.

Yanks, Tigers and Indians Loom as Mack's Most Serious Threats

Shortstops To Play Important Roles

Athletics Only Ones Who Will Enter Coming Race With Intact Lineup.

By Brian Bell,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The task of making the 1930 pennant race in the American league close and exciting may become the responsibility of a group of young men identified now only by the statement that they will play shortstop for four of the clubs.

This important position is wide open on half the clubs in the league and how well the contenders fill it may be the answer to the problem of unseating the champion Athletics from the baseball throne.

In the hot stove and radiator leagues during the winter, baseball's close observers have nominated the Yankees, Tigers and Indians to make long summer afternoons unpleasant for Connie Mack and his tribe. The St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators are mentioned, too, but not so often nor so emphatically as the others. The consensus has willed that the Sox, white and red, must wait awhile.

CAPABLE SHORTSTOPS.
St. Louis and Washington have capable shortstops in Ralph Kress and Joe Cronin but the chances are that Managers Shawkey, Harris and Peckinpaugh have no idea who will play the position for the other three challengers.

If the infield hole is plugged on all three, the Athletics may be fully extended from first to last to repeat their sensational victory of 1929.

The Yankees have three or four likely candidates, with Mark Koenig sure of a trial. Durocher and Larry will be in the race. A pair of Billie, Rogell, formerly of the Red Sox, and Akers, who finished the season in Detroit last year, probably will be Bucky Harris' hope. Gardner, Lind and others will fight it out for Cleveland.

BOLEY SEEMS O. K.

John (Joe) Boley seems good for another year with the Athletics. If not, Eric McNair may step in to fill the job. Chicago has a good shortstop in Chalmers Cissell, but if Irvine Jeffries is as good as his friends say, he may replace Cissell, giving the former soldier a chance to move over to second base.

MAJOR LEAGUES DRAW 25 STARS FROM COLLEGE

Promising Crop Gets Trial in "Big Tent." Bob Parham Goes Up.

By Dixon Stewart.

United News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(United Press.)—Collegiate sport will have strong representation in baseball training camps this spring, with 25 of the 130 players who are to be given major league trials, boasting reputations as college stars.

Twenty of the collegians are listed as American league recruits, with Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, the only junior loop leader who has no collegians on his roster.

INDIANS BOAST MANY.

Cleveland boasts the largest list of varsity players, nine in all, including Bruce Caldwell, who gained fame at Yale as a pitcher and football full-back. Caldwell has had one year of minor league ball at New Haven, leading the eastern league in home runs with 41, and hitting .359.

The other Cleveland collegians are: "Zeke" Bonura, former football, basketball and track captain at St. Stanislaus college of New Orleans, who batted .323 as first baseman for New Orleans last season.

Alex M. Hooks, also a first baseman who won two letters each in baseball, football, basketball and track at Southern Methodist University and hit .315 for Decatur in the Three-Eye league last season.

AUBURN STAR.
Cecil Stewart, a second baseman from Alabama Poly, who played last season with Shreveport.

J. H. Burnett, former Florida baseball and football star, who hit .311 as second baseman for New Orleans in 1929.

Jonah Goldman, of Hamilton Institute and Syracuse University, who led the Eastern league shortstops of 1929 in chances accepted with an average of 5.89 per game.

George Detore, Colgate baseball, football and basketball letterman, who played third base at Decatur in 1929, hitting .342 and leading the Three-Eye league in runs batted in.

YOUNG SLUGGER.
John Gill, an outfielder from Cumberland College, Lebanon, Tenn., who won the Eastern league batting championship for 1929 with an average of .377 and led the league in hits, runs and doubles.

Pete Jablonowski, former University of Michigan pitcher, who won 18 and lost 12 games for Columbus in 1929.

Bob Parham, Georgia Tech collegian who batted .319 at Atlanta last year, will seek an outfield berth with Brooklyn.

Harry McCurdy, champion batsman of the Big Ten during his undergraduate days at Illinois, will have his third major league trial as a catcher for Philadelphia. McCurdy formerly had trials with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago White Sox. Last season he was the outstanding catcher of the American Association and hit .325.

Zachary Started Off As Big League Star

Gangling, Quiet Mound Star Is Best Liked in Baseball Among Players.

By Richards Vidmer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—They call him Tom Zachary, but they didn't always call him that. He is known as the pitcher who led the American league last season and established a record by winning a dozen games without suffering a defeat, but he wasn't always known as that.

In the summer of 1917 a soldier on a few days' furlough sat in the stands at Philadelphia and watched the then lowly Athletics lose a ball game. Connie Mack had sent one pitcher after another into the game to stem the tide of base hits, but all had failed. After the game the soldier went down to see Connie.

"Mr. Mack, I can pitch as good as any of those fellows you had in there today," the soldier said with confidence.

"You would have to pitch better to be of any use to me," Mr. Mack replied.

"I can do that, too—a heap better," argued the soldier.

Connie was interested. "All right, come out tomorrow morning and we'll see what you can do," he said.

ZACHARY.
So the soldier showed up, warmed up, signed up under a name that I have forgotten, and won two games for the A's within the next two days.

At the end of his furlough he had to report to his regiment and he sailed overseas to a bigger and better battle.

He was never heard of again, but in 1919 when a young left-hander, pitching for Washington, gave the Athletics a neat trimming, Connie Mack thought there was something vaguely familiar in the slow, gangling motions of the young man.

"Didn't you pitch for me under such and such a name in 1917?" he asked the hurler after the game.

"My name's Zachary," quietly replied the pitcher with a broad grin. And Connie Mack had lost a great find.

BEST LIKED.
Tom Zachary is perhaps the best liked player in baseball among players.

He hasn't an enemy in the world. He is quiet, unassuming, manner, his droll humor, his slow drawl, infectious grin and gangling gait make him one of the most lovable characters that ever wore a spiked shoe.

He is one of the smartest of the profession, graduating from Guilford college before entering the service in 1917. Even Durocher steers clear of him, for he is a real ball player.

"What do you do in the winter time?" Zachary was asked by a would-be wit.

"I do nothing," just stay at home and whittle," Tom replied, his eyes sparkling.

"Well, how do you know what's going on? You don't get any papers up there in the North Carolina mountains, do you? How do you know if you've been traded or war has been declared or anything like that?"

"Well, you see, I hitch up the horse once a week and drive down to the store," Tom explained. "Then I just sit there and whittle awhile and pretty soon I know everything that's going on."

Which is as easy a way to learn the news as any when you come to think about it.

SILENT.
Last year Tom was a quiet hold-out. Everyone knew that one of the Yankee pitchers hadn't signed up, but Zach was the last one thought of. He was so silent about his troubles with Ed Barrow. When the tangle was straightened out and Tom reported to camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., someone asked him if he got what he wanted.

Tom chewed his gum, grinned and replied: "I'm here, ain't I?"

For several years it was rumored that Zachary owned a huge tobacco plantation in North Carolina and was independent of baseball. "Is that story true?" he was asked.

"Oh, I just use that for publicity," Tom explained, and no one knows yet whether or not he has a plantation.

Zachary never has been in the minor leagues, going straight to Washington after the war. He was traded to the Browns at one time, later to be recovered by Washington, and finally landing with the Yankees. He is a great "money pitcher," which, if explanation be needed, means he pitches his best when most depends on the game.

SPOTLESS.
This is no better indicated than in his world's series record, for he has worked in four games of the classics and never lost a decision. In 1924, when the Senators played the Giants, he beat McGraw's men twice. In 1925 he was used only for a few minutes against Pittsburgh as Stan Harris was convinced that no left-hander could beat the Pirates. In 1928 he pitched the closing game of the series for the Yanks against the Cards and held them helpless.

GOTHAM BOARD SELECTS PHELAN TO FILL POST

Boxing Commission Roster Filled With Appointment of Military Man.

By Edward J. Neil.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission filled its roster today with the enlistment of Brigadier General John J. Phelan, commander of the 93rd brigade of the national guard.

Phelan will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of George E. Brower, who became district attorney for Kings county.

For several weeks the choosing of the third "solemn solon" to help Chairman James A. Farley and the solid man of sport, 55-year-old William Muldoon, minister to the needs of boxing has stirred up a slight political storm. For a time it appeared that David F. Soden, of Brooklyn, was certain of the appointment, made by Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn. Soden withdrew his name yesterday.

STORM CENTER.
General Phelan, at one time commander of New York's famous 68th regiment, also was the center of the storm that rose in New York political and fiscal circles in 1926 when the late Tex Rickard matched Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for a heavyweight title battle.

General Phelan, then chairman of the license committee, refused Dempsey a boxing license and forced Rickard to take the match to Philadelphia. The commission itself had favored the match despite Chairman Farley's contention that Harry Wills, the giant negro, was the logical contender. Some months later the license committee was dissolved in a reorganization of state departments.

Frank J. Bruen, general manager of Madison Square Garden, apparently has other things on his mind down in Florida than the management of the Hialeah race track and preparations for the Sharkey-Scott struggle at Miami February 27.

ATTEMPT.
Bruen is attempting to match Sammy Mandell, who recently fought a draw with Manuel Quintana at Miami Beach, for a title defense against Al Singer in one of the local ball parks late in July. Bruen telephoned the home office today that the guarantee offered Mandell was large enough but a difference of five points in percentages has deadlocked negotiations with the champion.

Fort Mac Quintet Off for Oglethorpe
After winning the company basketball championship of the 22nd Infantry, members of the Headquarters company team, will leave the city early today for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where they will play Fort Oglethorpe champions.

A two-game series will be played, one tonight and the other Friday night. Members of the winning Fort McPherson team who will face the Oglethorpe players are: Tedesco, Martin, Stevens, Fernandez, Guthrie, Shull, Bowen and Adams.

Pugs Are Ordered Not To Play Ball

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—And now boxers have turned up their noses on professional baseball.

No little pleased by Baseball Commissioner Landis' edict that no baseball player can compete in the prize ring, the Benevolent Association of Boxers, headed by Promoter Jim Mullen, of Chicago, has countered with an order that none of its boxers can play baseball.

"Fight all you want to, but you've got to stay away from baseball playing," the Boxers' Association demanded.

Games Postponed On S.S.A.A. Card

Atlanta Athletic Club Court Unavailable for Tonight.

All games in the Sunday School Athletic Association, scheduled for tonight on the Atlanta Athletic Club court, have been postponed until later date, it was announced Wednesday night. The club court will be in use and not available for basketball games, it was learned.

Plenty Home Runs.
National league clubs made 6,600 runs last year, 408 more than made in any previous season.

INTALMENT XL. AN ARGUMENT.

John Andrew could almost see the old attorney carefully parsing the telegram to 10 words. Thank heaven and glad showed how happy Craig was that John Andrew had completed the task satisfactorily. Come home meant almost the same thing: it was as if the old man said, "Let me tell you how pleased I am; let me pat you on the shoulder, John Andrew." Dobson was certainly the banker's name, and California Southwestern his bank. But avoid actresses! John Andrew wanted to laugh. He would have laughed indeed if he had seen the words Craig had deleted from the wire: "Despite your success the whiskey was doubtful. Not the cost had made the old lawyer omit this; he was afraid that Kellogg would have forgotten the toast drunk in New York; more, he hoped that John Andrew would never remember it."

The reporter, when John Andrew stuffed the message into his pocket, said, "How long have you known Nora Paige?" "Who's she?" John Andrew asked. "The girl who came with Fitzgerald?" "You lose," Kellogg said. The reporter tried again: "We'll get the name when you apply for a marriage license." "You lose again," said John Andrew; "she won't have me."

"Who?" "What's this? A game?" "I've got to get her name," the reporter pleaded. "My city editor told me not to come back without it—" "You've got a cinch," John Andrew said, finishing his cup and standing up. "I could do a little job like that with one hand . . . now, old man, I'm sorry, but I'm pretty busy this morning . . ."

Kellogg dressed rapidly. A few pins jingled in his pocket—the last he had; before the morning was over he'd drop in at the California Southern and get some money, but first he was determined to see Anne. It was, he knew, still early; the sun was wanting over the hills, and casting the shadows of the palms like elongated curious caeti on the grass outside. Get Anne before she was out of the house. Say, "Look here, Anne, I want to know what the trouble is . . ."

The Mercury, docile for once, seemed willing to hurry toward the house in which the girl was stopping. He jerked the emergency brake before the car had come to a full stop. "That's fine," he told the woman who answered the door. "I'll just be here—how well that had worked."

Consolidated—"until she comes back . . . and if she doesn't come here for lunch, as you say, I'll send it and eat a sandwich on your doorstep . . ."

John Andrew was permitted to come inside, and the woman went upstairs; John Andrew realized (it was not yet half past eight) that Anne was here, and that a consultation was going on somewhere in the house. He did not realize that a battered machine was parked behind the gleaming custom-built car, and that the reporter was sitting in it, having followed John Andrew from the hotel.

In no time at all Anne came downstairs, hat on. Instinct made Kellogg and with his back to the door.

"I'm going out," Anne said, not looking at him.

"Mistake on your part," John Andrew said calmly. "That is, you're . . . with me."

The girl brought fiery eyes up to set his: "Will you get out of the way?" she demanded fiercely. John Andrew said, "I will not."

"Then I'll go back to my room—" "Or out of another door. I think it better go with you. It isn't good for you to be alone, anyhow. What's the story? 'Solitude allures men'; there are no women hermits."

"I'd like to see Koto," Anne snapped.

"He'll be waiting for you in New York—" "Counting your millions!" "Might be a good job for him; he's honest . . . Anne, what's the matter?" The girl froze immediately, and her face litting defiantly, made John Andrew want to kiss her more than ever. "I don't know what you're angry about," Kellogg said, "but I do know this: why argue it here?" "Or anywhere else." John Andrew said soberly: "It's got to be argued somewhere, Anne. I'll hang around until I know what's wrong—" "You know already." "Gently, 'Will you believe me when I say I don't know? Anne . . . let me drive you around a bit, and we'll talk it over. I tell you I don't know. Won't you believe me?" Her lips formed the word, "No," but, after a pause, she said, "It's unnecessary, but . . . I haven't anything else to do . . ."

"I'm sorry, Anne." She looked at him scornfully, but said nothing; when John Andrew held the door open she walked rapidly past him, down the walk, and stepped into the Mercury; by the time Kellogg reached the car the reporter was taking off his hat. " . . . from the sheriff's office," John Andrew heard; "we need your name for our records—" "This isn't the same lady who came to see me in jail," Kellogg said grimly. "I just came here to—" "She answers the description . . . and now that I know what she really looks like I can tell 'em out at Consolidated, and they'll be glad to give me her name; it's good publicity—" Anne asked helplessly, "Why must I have anything to do with it? I'm only a . . . a friend of Mr. Kellogg's, and went to the jail to see what the trouble was; hasn't it been all explained?"

"Surely, but you see Mr. Kellogg has anything . . . well, you never read anything about his doings in the papers, but now that he was arrested it makes a good story—" John Andrew slipped into his seat, pressed the starter.

"Look out for your feet, old man," he said, and the Mercury shot away. For a mile the Mercury hummed ahead; John Andrew, searching for words with which to commence his story, which he believed must preface all argument, and yet which he did not want to tell until Anne had explained why she was disturbed, drove without saying a word. Cars, thousands of cars, big and small, shining and streaked, were on the streets now, as the city drove to work.

Anne broke the silence. "You're always managed to keep from being arrested before," she said. She might as well have said, "But you've done criminal things."

John Andrew nodded. "What clever trick did you use to get the soundless camera?" "Look here," Kellogg protested: "I'm supposed to be doing the questioning. The invention? If I hadn't happened along, and stumbled over it, the old man who made the camera would never have received a decent price for it." Fearful lest she thought he might be boasting, he added, "I was able to help him a bit."

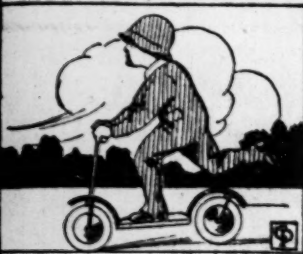

"I—I—I—I! Don't you ever think of other people, John Andrew?" "That 'John Andrew' sounded very fine," was all Kellogg offered.

The Mercury, throttled down, moved silently forward, as if listening. (Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution.) (Continued tomorrow.)

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 52

The days dragged their weary lengths along for Korak, when he began to recover. During his illness, the ape had hunted close by, that they might protect him. The great-hearted ape brought juicy fruits which helped to slake Korak's thirst and allay his fever. Little by little his powerful constitution overcame the effects of the spear thrusts, the wounds healed, his strength returned and one day he made his way unaided to the ground.

Always in his delirium had he called for Meriem. Now his first rational thoughts were of her. For her he must live! What had the blacks done to her? All the hideous possibilities of the girl's fate suggested themselves to him out of his knowledge of the customs of Kovoodoo's tribe. Often he thought the day would never come when his strength would return sufficiently for him to make the journey to Kovoodoo's distant village.

Many days' march had Kovoodoo gone, with his fair captive before he reached home and there placed Meriem in a dirty hut under strong guard. Food she had plenty, and a certain amount of liberty, for the wily chieftain knew a healthy maiden would bring the largest ransom. On the day that Korak began his quest for Meriem, Kovoodoo dispatched a fleet runner to the distant habitation of the Sheik to barter with him for his daughter's ransom.

The messenger never reached his destination! Two mean-faced white men again had come into the deep jungle, this time to trap baboons for a zoo in Gernsey. They were Jeannet and Melville, little altered in vicious nature since that day years before, when they and their "safari" had been so badly frightened by Korak and Akut. They had made camp beside a river along which lay the path Kovoodoo's messenger must take on his mission.
